FIVE ENEMY SHIPS BADLY DAMAGED BY AUSTRALIAN FLYERS

Direct Hits Scored on Warship in New Guinea—Troop Concentrations on Island Are Heavily Bombed Following Third Landing—Airmen Ordered to Attack With Every Resource

CANBERRA, Australia, March 11 (Wednesday) (AP).—Australian flyers in one of their heaviest attacks of the war on Japanese shipping off the invaded New Guinea port of Salamaua scored direct hits on a warship and left four other ships in flames, the Air Ministry said today.

Two of the ships were observed to be in a sinking condition, and a third was beached, the communique said. The warship which was hit was believed to be either a cruiser or a large destroyer.

SMASHING AT ENEMY

CANBERRA, March 11 (Wednesday) (AP).—Heavy blows against Japanese troop concentrations in New Guinea, direct hits on transports offshore, and the firing of a big flying boat were announced by the Royal Australian Air Force today in swift response to orders to attack the foe with every resource.

The R.A.A.F. onslaught, led by veterans newly returned from other fighting fronts, followed a third Japanese landing yesterday on Northeast New Guinea only forty-five minutes by fast plane from the Australian mainland.

The most recent invasion was at Funschhafen, which has a small airport and harbor suitable for ships of moderate draft. The size of the Japanese force was not disclosed.

EVACUATION HAS BEGUN

Vancouver Island Japanese Are Being Moved; All Cars Called in Thursday

Actual movement of Japanese from Vancouver Island points has begun under the direction of the Provincial Police acting in conjunction with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, it was learned yesterday at the Legislative Buildings. Japanese employees in logging camps and sawmills are being moved now. The police reported the co-operation of the Japanese and said the movement was proceeding smoothly without incident at any point. Numbers involved were not stated.

At the same time it was announced that all motor vehicles owned by Japanese on Vancouver Island must be surrendered to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at the Willows Exhibition grounds in Victoria not later than at sunset on Thursday, March 12. The co-operation of the Provincial and Municipal Police was being sought in making known the decree, which takes place immediately. Cameras and radios are being taken up progressively.

PREPARING CAMPS

Elsewhere the Province prepared to expand its system of road camps and projects east of the Cascade Range, so that work may be provided for increasing numbers of Japanese males removed from coastal areas. Hon. R. W. Bruhn announced that the Jasper and Hope-Princeton projects had been approved by Ottawa, and that authority was being sought now in respect to other roads east of the range, but not in the Kootenay area.

KRUPP PLANTS BOMBED AGAIN

British Flyers Leave Heavy Damage After Blasting Essen Works

LONDON, March 10 (CP).—Attacking the giant Krupp munitions works at Essen for the second time in twenty-four hours last night, British bombers kindled fires which the Air Ministry declared wrought such extensive havoc that production would be slowed considerably for some time to come.

Fires visible for 100 miles multiplied rapidly, participating pilots, including a number of Canadians, related, and even before the attack reached its climax the target was a beckoning beacon to succeeding waves of bombers.

Today's German High Command communique from Berlin acknowledged the attacks on Western Germany, but omitted its usual claim that no military damage was done.

Near the end of 1941 more than 1,000 workmen were reported busy at the Krupp works repairing damage resulting from R.A.F. air raids before Wintry weather halted them.

OTHER RAIDS CARRIED OUT

The main British raid last night on Essen was coupled with a subsidiary attack on the French Channel Coast. Three British bombers were lost in all the operations. Six German fighter planes were shot down over Northern France yesterday.

Describing the extensive havoc caused during the Essen raid, Squadron Leader Johnny Fauquier, Ottawa, commander of a Canadian Wellington bomber squadron, said that three huge orange-colored fires were raging when he reached the target. There were numerous smaller ones.

"They were the biggest fires I have seen on any of my trips," said Fauquier, veteran of many raids, who has succeeded Wing Commander Fenwick-Wilson, Rock Creek, B.C., as squadron commander.

WILL RUSH WORK ON ALASKA ROAD

Plans Call for Completion of Highway From United States Within One Year

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP).—The Interior Department announced today that present plans call for completion of the contemplated highway between the United States and Alaska within one year.

In a statement accompanying the announcement, Secretary Harold Ickes, head of a Cabinet committee studying the highway plans, declared the highway "must be constructed in a hurry."

"In the first few months of the war," Ickes said, "we already have seen that we should not depend exclusively on the maintenance of protected ocean shipping lanes to carry either civilian supplies or fighting equipment. When this road is completed, we will be able to use any or all of the facilities of the land, sea and air to ship enough of everything on time."

GERMAN COMMANDER IS VISITING HITLER

LONDON, March 10 (CP).—Marshal Erwin Rommel, commander of the German forces in Libya, is believed to have gone to Hitler's headquarters in Russia to confer with the Fuehrer and German military attaches from the Balkan countries an Istanbul dispatch to The Daily Herald said tonight.

"Hitler is apparently trying to make up his mind about which way he should attempt to drive through to the Middle East—across Egypt or through Turkey," the dispatch said.

Prisoners at Hongkong Subjected by Japanese To Shocking Treatment

British Foreign Secretary Tells House Fifty Helplessly Bound Officers and Soldiers Bayoneted—Reports Rape and Murder of Asiatic and European Women

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—The Government indicted Japan today for barbarities at Hongkong paralleling those which shocked the world during the 1937 sack of Nanking, and accused the occupying forces of such outrages as the bayoneting of fifty helplessly bound officers and soldiers, and the indiscriminate rape and murder of Asiatic and European women.

Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, told the House of Commons the charges were based on statements of reliable eyewitnesses who escaped from Hongkong after the island Crown colony and its garrison of British and Empire troops capitulated last Christmas Day. They were withheld out of regard for the victims' relatives until they were "confirmed beyond any possibility of doubt," he said.

WIDEST PUBLICITY

Now Mr. Eden assured the nation the widest publicity in all languages will be given to these atrocities. In reply to a question, he agreed emphatically that responsibility for the outrages lies at the door of not only the troops themselves, but also "the Emperor, the Government and the whole Japanese people."

In the House of Lords the Colonial Secretary Lord Cranborne, agreed to look into a suggestion that Russia

Westbound Mail For Canada Lost By Enemy Action

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP).—The Postoffice Department announced tonight that word has been received of the loss, due to enemy action, of a westbound steamship expected to reach Canada with 906 bags of mail. The department said it made the announcement because of anxiety which will be felt by the addressees when letters and parcels which they have expected fail to arrive.

House Will Be Recessed Over Easter

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP).—The House of Commons Easter recess will be from March 27 to April 20 it was revealed today in the Commons order paper.

Notice of a motion to this effect was given on the order paper by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The Prime Minister, a few days ago, forecast an Easter adjournment of about two weeks. Easter this year falls on April 5.

DEVIN ELECTED SEATTLE MAYOR

Police Judge Defeats Millikin After Bitterly-Contested Campaign

SEATTLE, March 10 (AP).—Police Judge William F. Devin, who rose to political prominence for the first time as runner-up for mayor a year ago, won the position tonight by an almost three-to-two lead over Mayor Earl Millikin after a bitterly contested campaign.

Millikin, former Democratic county auditor who had the aggressive support of Teamsters' Union Leader Dave Beck, conceded the election after the count in 459 of the city's 510 precincts stood Devin, 56,624; Millikin, 39,113.

Devin was appointed to the judgeship by Governor Arthur B. Langlie, Republican, during his two terms as mayor. Millikin was elected a year ago to serve out Langlie's unexpired term.

LOSES COUNCIL SEAT

Paul Revelle, associated with the teamsters' promotional activities, was defeated for election to the city council seat he held by appointment. Frank McCaffrey, a printer, beat him.

Other results included David Levine, Mike Mitchell and Frank J. Laube were re-elected to the city council.

A special 3-mill school levy and a proposal to raise police and firemen's pay $20 monthly were approved. Salary increases for city councilmen and city departmental heads were rejected.

WILL DECLARE INDIAN POLICY

Churchill to Make Statement At Next Sitting of House

LONDON, March 10 (CP).—Prime Minister Churchill will make a statement on the Government's India policy at the next sitting of the House of Commons, Sir Stafford Cripps, Lord Privy Seal, told the House today.

The Cabinet debated the complex problem at two sessions Saturday and yesterday.

Dominion status for India as the price for her millions' war support for Britain was regarded in British circles today as a virtual certainty and the weight of Cabinet influence apparently was veering toward an offer which would be put into force promptly.

LEADING THE FIGHT

Sir Stafford Cripps was said to be leading the fight for an immediate grant to India of the same rank in the Commonwealth as Canada and the other Dominions. Prime Minister Churchill, formerly an advocate of strong British rule in India, was believed to be swinging toward the same opinion, it was reported.

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leader of India's Nationalists, suggested that only India's extreme demands would be a high enough price.

Dispatches from New Delhi said apparent delay in Prime Minister Churchill's statement to Parliament on India had resulted in disappointment.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the All-India Moslem League, declared in a cablegram to Churchill that Moslem India would revolt if the statement were detrimental to Moslem interests, particularly to the Moslem plan to divide India into separate self-ruling Moslem and Hindu states.

Canadians in Britain For Offensive Action McNaughton Affirms

Commander of Corps Emphatic in Favor of Building Up Striking Force to Be Used in Europe

WASHINGTON, March 10 (CP).—The United Nations will let no opportunity slip by to take the offensive against the Axis, Lieut.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Corps, declared here today.

At a press conference, sandwiched between discussions with high-ranking American and British military officials, Gen. McNaughton said the Canadian army in Britain was designed for offensive action, as a spearhead against Axis formations and is "itching for action."

In a quick survey of the Western Hemisphere, he said it would not surprise him if the Japanese attack Alaska or the Panama Canal zone, but he regarded an invasion of Northern Canada by the Hudson Bay route as the idea of a man "with a maggot in his brain."

At the same time, the general took a strong stand against immobilizing the Canadian army to meet the demands of people who anticipate nuisance value raids, particularly on the West Coast. He said we "must not dissipate our forces," but continue the policy of building up an offensive force to be used in Europe.

VOLUNTEER GROUP INCREASES SCORE

American Flyers Add Forty-Three Japanese Planes in Week to Bag Over Burma

NEW DELHI, India, March 10 (AP).—The American volunteer group flyers in Burma destroyed forty-three Japanese planes last week dispatches received here today said.

Among the leading scorers of the group were Squadron Leaders Newkirk and Robert Neale of Seattle and Flight Leader Robert Little.

Neale said that during the operations in Burma he never had taken to the air with more than eleven American planes, yet his pilots were so far superior to the Japanese that in one engagement they shot down nineteen of the enemy.

In all, sixty or seventy A.V.G. pilots have been engaged in the Burma campaign. Only seven have been lost in combat since hostilities began.

RETREATING BRITISH FORCES DRIVING TO CENTRAL BURMA FOR CONTACT WITH CHINESE

General Alexander's Troops Extricated From Grave Position After Heavy Actions by Separate Forces—Junction Effected After Smashing Through Japanese in Violent Assaults

Demolition Workers Leave Rangoon an Area of Waste

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—British Empire forces, abandoning the southern tip of Burma, have slashed through a Japanese trap and were driving tonight into Central Burma toward their first mass rendezvous with their Chinese Allies in the Shan States for the supreme defence of India.

These manoeuvres were announced almost simultaneously with a disclosure that Prime Minister Churchill would make a statement at the next session of the Commons, probably on Wednesday, of the Government's intentions toward India's demand for concessions toward independence as the price for her all-out co-operation in the war.

COMPLICATING THREAT

Construction of this policy was complicated by the threat uttered by Mohammed Ali Jinnah that the Moslem minority of India would revolt if the plan were opposed to its interests, particularly if it denied Moslem autonomy.

Operations on the Burma front indicated meantime that Britain was staking everything on the belief the battered army of Burma could, with Chinese aid, make a prolonged resistance.

A communique from New Delhi announced that the Royal Air Force, despite the British retreat and readjustment to new bases, had struck a heavy blow at a Japanese airdrome at Moulmein, dropping sticks of bombs among fourteen scattered planes and setting two fires. Fighting planes too lifted a shield over the retreating troops. A Japanese

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province

(Copyright, 1942, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, March 10 (By Cable).—Rangoon has been abandoned to the Japanese and great damage done to everything in and around the city likely to be of value to the invaders. Enemy forces on the highway northward from Rangoon have been broken up by intensified air attacks.

Describing the last sight of the Burmese capital the special correspondent there says it was under a pall of smoke due to demolition fires. Already districts inhabited by the poorer classes have been gutted. Some fires were started by saboteurs.

The Japanese are now making for the Tharawaddy district where the Burmese rebellion broke out in 1931. Fighting is now proceeding in the open country with the British using tanks, which the Japanese do not appear to possess. However, the Japanese have superiority in the air and this gives them an immense advantage.

The Dutch Government in London discounts Japanese propaganda stories that 90,000 Dutch troops surrendered in the Netherlands East Indies. Local commanders have the power to order cessation of local military operations, but the story that the Governor-General negotiated the wholesale surrender is utterly unfounded.

The tragedy of Java, says The Times special correspondent now at Perth, Western Australia, is a continuation of the tragedy of Malaya. The small Dutch Colonial Army, depending largely on native troops, could not defeat a far superior enemy who had command of the air. Reinforcements came, but they were too small and too late.

• • •

The Japanese have now begun the battle for New Guinea, having disembarked considerable forces there. The Australian Air Force maintains a reconnaissance over the Bismarck Archipelago to prevent the Japanese getting bases for operations near Port Moresby, and thus threatening Queensland towns.

What is ominous for Australia says The Times Canberra correspondent, is that the Japanese now command the straits between New Britain and New Guinea. A likely route for any invaders of Australia's eastern coast.

The Australian hospital ship Manunda has been bombed by Japanese aircraft. A few of the patients aboard and several of the medical nursing staff were killed.

Editorially The Times says the Australians are now preparing to find the enemy on their coasts. They have been irritated by opinions expressed in Washington and London that the Japanese would not risk lines of communications as far as Australia. They have redoubled their defences and looked to Washington rather than London for assistance, knowing how heavy is the burden of war Britain already carries.

But now they find the Japanese unchecked and landing on their doorstep. They are persuaded that the Japanese have both the resources and audacity to undertake a large-scale invasion despite what help may be forthcoming from the United States.

RETRIBUTION WILL FOLLOW

Mackenzie King Tells House Of Atrocities on British Prisoners

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP).—Retribution in full measure will follow Japanese atrocities on British prisoners at Hongkong, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a tense House of Commons today, adding stern warning that vengeance must not be taken against Japanese residents of Canada.

To an unusually quiet chamber Mr. King read the text of a statement made earlier in the British House of Commons confirming beyond any possibility of doubt reports of barbarities committed by the Japanese [illegible] prisoners and civilian population.

GENERAL INDIGNATION

Resentment and indignation expressed by the Prime Minister and other leaders in the House of Commons today [illegible] British statements made public in London and also by the External Affairs Department here.

Reports from the Japanese Government [illegible] the number of prisoners taken at Hongkong as 10,947 of whom 1,689 were Canadians.

There was no direct evidence that Canadians were among those on whom atrocities had been committed Mr. King said but there was also no indication that Canadians were receiving treatment any different from that of other British prisoners.

Words cannot begin to express the sense of outrage and the feeling of bitter resentment to which this

FIRE STARTED IN ITALIAN CRUISER

Destroyer and Merchant Vessel Also Hit by British Torpedo Bombers

CAIRO, March 10 (AP).—British torpedo bombers set fire to an Italian cruiser, a merchant vessel and a destroyer in the Central Mediterranean yesterday, an announcement said today.

An air headquarters communique said the attack was directed against an enemy convoy escorted by units of the Italian fleet.

Attacks on the islands of Rhodes and Leros and on Piraeus, the seaport of Athens, also were reported but no details were given. These took place Sunday night.

SUNK BY ENEMY OFF NEW YORK

Brazilian Vessel Torpedoed—Twenty-Six Are Safe, Fifty-Nine Missing

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP).—The torpedo-sinking of the Brazilian cargo-passenger liner Cayru, the fourth Brazilian ship sunk in twenty-one days, was announced tonight by the Third Naval District following the arrival here of twenty-six survivors. Fifty-nine others are missing in three lifeboats.

The navy said the 5,152-ton liner was sunk between 7 and 7.30 p.m. (E.D.T.) (4 p.m. and 4.30 p.m. P.D.T.) Sunday night about 130 miles off the Ambrose Light at the entrance to New York harbor.

The survivors included twenty-two seamen and four passengers. Six other passengers and fifty-three crew members are missing.

Brazil's tonnage loss rose to 22,231 gross tons with the sinking—a serious inroad in the marine life-lines between the United States and Brazil.

The navy said the first torpedo, coming without warning, struck the bow of the Cayru and failed to explode. The second struck amidships and the ship broke in two and began to sink at once.

All passengers and crewmen got off in four boats but a howling gale soon separated the boats. A United Nations ship rescued the survivors landed today after they spent fifteen and one-half hours in the pitching lifeboat.

The captain, who is missing, was in a lifeboat with a motor but rough waves put the motor out of commission, the navy said.

Abandoning Plan for Defensive Action on North Russian Front

Hitler Reliably Reported as Calling Up Ultimate Reserves for All-or-Nothing Offensive—Fears Invasion of German Soil

LONDON, March 10 (CP).—Haunted by the muddy spectre of Spring thaws and fearful that a Soviet push from Leningrad might penetrate German soil, Hitler was reported today to be calling up his ultimate reserves for an all-or-nothing offensive in Russia as soon as possible.

Reliable sources described as "almost certainly accurate" confidential advices that the Nazi Fuehrer had abandoned earlier plans for a defensive campaign in the north while concentrating on a big drive in the south.

Instead, they said, he evidently had determined on attacking all along the line.

This was said to be due to his fear that defeat of a defensive force on the Leningrad front would let the Red army into the Baltic States, behind the German army and with a clear path to invade Germany itself.

Red army successes around Staraya Russa and a weakening of the Finnish forces are said to have raised this fear.

A Russian dispatch from the Donets Basin said, "Spring is ex-

HAS CONTROL OF MOTOR TRANSPORT

Administrator of Services Given Broad Powers Over Commercial Vehicles

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP).—Broad powers of control over all forms of commercial motor transportation have been conferred upon James Stewart, administrator of services under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the board announced tonight.

"Plans are already well under way," the statement said, "drastically to cut down empty running or running without full loads, and to concentrate equipment and give priority to essential services."

The order, prepared in collaboration with the Wartime Industries Control Board in the Department of Munitions and Supply, has for its main objective the maximum conservation of rubber, oil and automotive equipment, and to insure the maintenance of essential services.

Minister Declares "Dollar Wheat" for Canada Impossible

Gardiner Against Further Increase in Prices at Present Time—Dominion Now Guarantees More Than U.S. Growers Receiving

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP).—Every dollar that can safely be taken out of the Federal Treasury to assist Western wheat growers is being taken out, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in the House of Commons tonight.

The minister spoke as the Government's wheat policy was challenged by the Opposition in an amendment which called for implementation of the requests of the Saskatchewan farm delegation which visited Ottawa last month seeking a $1 wheat price

The amendment was proposed by Rev. T. C. Douglas (C.C.F., Weyburn) on second reading of a Government bill to raise the guaranteed wheat price of seventy cents to ninety cents, basis No 1 Northern at Fort William

Taking direct issue with the amendment, Mr Gardiner argued that most of representations of the Western delegation had been adopted by the Government and that none of them had been disregarded.

SAVING INDUSTRY

Dr F W. Gershaw (Liberal, Medicine Hat) said that the Government, faced with the wheat problem created by loss of markets through spread of the war, had decided to save the industry so it might function when all farm products would be needed. Had the Government chosen otherwise, 1,500,000 people would have had to go on relief.

Dr. Harry Fleming (Liberal, Humboldt) said that he was not satisfied with the ninety-cent price and urged a payment of at least $1, while Lieut.-Col. J. A Ross (Conservative, Souris) announced that he would support the Douglas amendment.

As for parity prices, Mr. Gardiner said, prices now paid for most farm products other than grains were at or above parity. The Government had successfully grappled with every farm problem except that of wheat and as soon as Britain or other countries wanted Canadian wheat the Government would finance its sale at a price which would be fair to Western producers

BETTER GUARANTEE

Actually, Mr. Gardiner said, the Government of Canada is guaranteeing Canadian wheat growers two cents a bushel more than American growers are getting from the Treasury of the United States. At seventy cents a bushel last year and with bonuses amounting to thirty cents a bushel, the Canadian producer received $1 per bushel. The United States Government loans farmers, who comply with its wheat acreage reduction programme, ninety-eight cents a bushel.

"We are taking every last dollar out of the Treasury to deal with these problems that we feel it is safe to take at the present time," said Mr. Gardiner.

"Some time during this war, I don't know if it will be 1942 or 1943, but I am convinced that before this war is over, every bushel of wheat grown in Canada is going to be required to feed the peoples of Great Britain and other countries."

"Will you give it away?" an Opposition member asked.

"We may have to give it away," Mr. Gardiner replied. That was being done now regarding hogs and cheese sent to Britain. These shipments were "being financed by the Government of Canada."

"You mean the people of Canada," a Conservative member interjected.

"The people, through the Government," Mr. Gardiner replied. "They mean the same thing—now more than ever before."

APPROVES POLICY

Approval of the new wheat policy was voiced earlier by Dr. Thomas Donnelly (Liberal, Wood Mountain), who urged that wheat storage charges be cut in half, while E. E. Perley (Conservative, Qu'Appelle) advocated closing the grain exchange and reduction in wheat storage charges to one-quarter the present rate, which is one-forty-fifth cent a bushel a month.

Earlier the Speaker ruled out of order another amendment, sponsored by Liguori Lacombe (Conservative, Laval-Two Mountains), which declared that the only way to aid farmers was to grant farmers and farmers' sons exemption from military service.

Mr Perley congratulated Agriculture Minister Gardiner for fighting for Western farmers, but expressed curiosity about what went on in the deciding of the policy. He said that he had heard Mr Gardiner had threatened to resign and go into Opposition if he did not get his way

FIVE SHIPS HIT BY AUSTRALIAN FLYERS

Other landings have been made at Salamaua and Lae in the same area. These inroads and a tenth air raid on Port Moresby, principal city of New Guinea, erased any lingering official doubts of an invasion attempt against this commonwealth

OF DELAYING NATURE

The R.A.A.F. counter blows for all their success, were regarded as likely to be primarily of a delaying nature. Australian authorities holding the belief the Japanese would strike at the mainland as soon as they could consolidate New Guinea positions.

Lt.-Gen. Sir Iven Mackay, commander of the home forces, warned the public not to sit back and wait for others to defend their country

"A large-scale invasion by the Japanese would be difficult but not beyond their capacity," he said at Adelaide

In the State of Victoria, liquor restrictions were tightened, with cancellation of late night sales permits, sale of bottles prohibited after 6 30 pm. and all public functions ordered to be bone-dry

War Minister Francis Forde told Australians that in the event of an invasion to follow this rule "Know nothing and, if possible, give the enemy misleading information."

Displays of tourist maps already have been forbidden.

Australian Loan Far Over the Top

SYDNEY, March 10 (CP).—Australia's new £35,000,000 ($134,000,000) Liberty Loan closed today, the books heavily oversubscribed. Prime Minister John Curtin estimated full receipts at £46,000,000 and said that the Government proposed to use the whole sum for war purposes.

Some 200,000 persons contributed to the loan, which is a record for Australia, with regard both to the amount of the oversubscription and the number of subscribers.

PRISON WORKER VISITS VICTORIA

Col. Wallace Bunton Tells of Salvation Army's Plans For Prisoners

"A man may be down, but we believe that he is never out. There is always a second best. We think that bad men may be made good, and good men may be made better. Prisoners may be reclaimed and made good citizens of the community and loyal to the Empire," declared Lieut.-Col. Wallace Bunton, J.P., territorial prison secretary of the Salvation Army who arrived here yesterday from his Toronto headquarters.

Paying his first visit to Western Canada, Colonel Bunton said that the West was a wonderful country "I am completely intoxicated by the wonders and beauties of your Province, and every city I visit, I fall in love with it. I surely will hate to leave your shores on Thursday on my way back to Eastern Canada."

WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Col. Bunton, who will speak at a meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the Broad Street Citadel on his prison work, stated that the Salvation Army had in 1889 opened its first prison home in Toronto for men discharged from jail. The Army was prepared to clothe these men, feed them and find work for them, thus fully rehabilitating them. The Government recognized the reclamation work by appointing Brig. Walter Archibald, a Salvation Army officer, as the first parole officer in the Dominion.

Col. Bunton, who has spent thirty-six years in Salvation Army work, told how he was constantly visiting police courts, jails and reformatories. "I have spent more time in than out of prisons in connection with my work. I have gone to the gallows with many men as their spiritual adviser. Many a Sunday I spend in prisons trying to help the boys."

VICTORIA WORK

The colonel alluded to the splendid work which was being done in Victoria with discharged prisoners by Adjutant James Habkirk, social superintendent for Greater Victoria.

"The Salvation Army conducts its prison work in Canada, Alaska, Bermuda and Newfoundland. In over ninety countries of the world, and from coast to coast, the Army is performing this reclamation work among discharged prison inmates. Our satisfaction is in the fact that 85 per cent of the men and women prisoners under our care give a good account of themselves and are a credit to the community," Col. Bunton declared.

Persons of Japanese Race Must Surrender Cars at Once

FOLLOWING is the text of a notice to all persons of the Japanese race issued yesterday by Inspector C. R. Peters, commanding officer of the Vancouver Division, Royal Canadian Mounted Police:

"Under authority of Order in Council P.C. 4066, all persons of the Japanese race are hereby notified that they must drive their motor vehicles to the Cattle Shed in the Willows Exhibition Grounds, [illegible] deadline for receiving these vehicles will be sunset of Thursday, March 12, 1942

"Before departure, persons of the Japanese race residing in the Up-Island localities will report themselves to the British Columbia Provincial Police office nearest their place of residence, so that they may drive their motor vehicle to Victoria in convoy under direction of the British Columbia Provincial Police.

"Persons of the Japanese race are reminded that the Curfew Law is still in effect. These persons should obtain daily the hours of sunrise and sunset from their local newspaper.

"On arrival at the Exhibition Ground in Victoria, motor vehicles must be turned over to a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who will give the owner a receipt for his car. Considerable time will be saved if the person has his tire numbers ready to hand to the police and a list of all extra equipment with the car; together with car registration papers, drivers' licences, and any and all insurance policies covering the motor vehicle."

PRISONERS RECEIVE SHOCKING TREATMENT

be asked to exert its good offices at Tokio for the relief of Hongkong's helpless people. Russia and Japan still are at peace.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

Following is the text of Mr Eden's statement

Out of regard for the feelings of the thousands of relations of the victims, His Majesty's Government have been unwilling to publish any accounts of Japanese atrocities at Hongkong until these had been confirmed beyond any possibility of doubt.

His Majesty's Government now are in possession of statements by reliable eyewitnesses who succeeded in escaping from Hongkong towards the end of January or early in February

Their testimony established the fact that the Japanese army at Hongkong perpetrated against their helpless military prisoners and civil population without distinction of race or color, the same kind of barbarities which aroused the horror of the civilized world at the time of the Nanking massacre of 1937

It is known that fifty officers and men of the British garrison were bound hand and foot and then bayoneted to death

It is known that ten days after the capitulation, wounded were still being collected from the hills and the Japanese were refusing permission to bury the dead

RAPED AND MURDERED

It is known that women, both Asiatic and European, were raped and murdered, and that one entire Chinese district was declared a brothel regardless of status of inhabitants

All the survivors of the garrison including Indian, Chinese and Portuguese have been herded into a camp consisting of wrecked huts without doors, windows, light or sanitation. By the end of January 150 cases of dysentery had occurred but no drugs or medical facilities were supplied

The dead had to be buried in a corner of the camp

The Japanese guards are utterly callous and the repeated requests of General Maltby, the general officer commanding, for an interview with the Japanese commander have been curtly refused.

This presumably means that the Japanese High Command have connived at the conduct of their forces.

NUMBER OF PRISONERS

The Japanese Government stated at the end of February that numbers of prisoners in Hongkong were British, 5,072; Canadian, 1,689; Indian, 3,829, others, 357, total, 10,947.

Most of the European residents, including some who are seriously ill, have been interned, and like the military prisoners are being given only a little rice and water and occasionally scraps of other food.

There is some reason to believe that conditions have been slightly improved since the date on which the eyewitnesses whom I have quoted escaped, but the Japanese Government have refused their consent to a visit to Hongkong of a representative of the protecting power and no permission has yet been granted for such a visit by a representative of the International Red Cross committee. They have, in fact, announced that they require all foreign consuls to withdraw from all territories they have invaded since the outbreak of the war. It is clear that their treatment of prisoners and civilians will not bear independent investigation.

SITUATION IN MALAYA

I have no information as to condition of our prisoners of war and civilians in Malaya. The only report available is a statement by Japanese official news agency on March 3 stating that 77,699 Chinese have been arrested and subjected to what is described as "a severe examination." It is not difficult to imagine what that entails.

I am sorry that I have had to make such a statement to the House. Two things will be clear from it, to the House, to the country and to the world. The Japanese claim that their forces are animated by a lofty code of chivalry, bushido, is a nauseating hypocrisy. That is the first. The second is that the enemy must be defeated. The House will agree with me that we can best express our sympathy with the victims of these appalling outrages by redoubling our efforts to insure his utter and overwhelming defeat

AROUSES RESENTMENT

LONDON, March 10 (CP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's disclosure of Japanese atrocities in Hongkong tonight aroused resentment and bitterness in every Briton and brought renewed press and parliamentary demands for concentration of the nation's full powers in a re-invigorated war drive

Evening newspapers carried Mr Eden's statement in full, under blazing headlines, and editorials were revised to contain comment on the disclosures

A group of Midland members of Parliament, after a hurried meeting, sent a resolution to Prime Minister Churchill appealing to him to develop an "intensive campaign" throughout the country on the peril confronting the "whole field of modern civilization."

The B.B.C. began almost immediately to tell the world of the Japanese outrages and officials said the substance of the statement would be included in 120 news bulletins broadcast in forty-six languages during the next twenty-four hours

DAY OF RECKONING

In an editorial headed "Awakening," The Star said "Mere word spinning impassionate condemnation of the Japanese for the foul outrages committed at Hongkong won't avenge [illegible] Hongkong will be remembered at the day of reckoning. It must never be forgotten until that day comes

"As a dreadful glimpse into a totalitarian future it must do more than any exhortatory speeches by politicians or generals to spur every able-bodied man and woman to the last ounce of effort. Now we know how the Russians feel about their enemies. We have learned the same bitter lesson,

"Our dead, like those of martyred Kiev, call for every sacrifice so that retribution may be expected however long it may be postponed."

CAN HARDLY BE RIVALED

The News, in and editorial called "The Mark of the Beast," declared that the stories of Hongkong atrocities "can hardly be rivaled even by the brutal outrages of the Gestapo."

"Let's remember this story," The News said. "Let's remember the fifty British officers and men who were bound hand and foot and then bayoneted to death. Let's remember the raping and murdering of women. Let's remember the starving of captives, the cruelties and the tortures.

"These are the [illegible] we have to meet in the [illegible] comradeship in arms for Hitler's sadistic Aryans in the West. We must shed all our allusions about the way the enemies mean to use their strength. We must awaken to the grim truth of their bestiality that is now advancing upon the world."

CONSEQUENCES OF FAILURE

The Evening Standard said that no one disguises the present peril of Japan and "Hongkong merely underlines the consequences of the failure to defeat it."

"How shall we, in this island, face the menace?" the paper asked

"A new Government has been formed. It must face and grapple with the new dangers that beset us. It will need all the fighting spirit of this people to sustain it in its task

"Another Cabinet crisis won't avenge Hongkong or insure that the Germans are defeated in Russia."

The paper added that Britain needs ships, airplanes, armies, and said that the nation "must tackle this threefold task" because "we will never be safe on our island until we are able to go forth and meet the enemy on his own territory, carrying the war to his cities."

INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN

The members of Parliament, in their resolution, adopted at a meeting presided over by Sir Patrick Hannon, Conservative member for Birmingham, said that "in view of the statement made by the Foreign Secretary the Midland group have decided to appeal to the Prime Minister to direct the development of an intensive campaign throughout the country on the peril which now confronts the British Empire and indeed the whole field of modern civilization in view of the recent events in the Far East and the projected further aggression of the Axis powers."

It went on: "The group feels that the mass of the people does not yet realize that atrocities perpetrated by enemy members of the Axis may be the fate of citizens in all parts of the British Commonwealth and that the undivided thought and energy of all classes should be concentrated on the war effort."

announcement of Japanese atrocities at Hongkong is certain to give rise, among civilized people everywhere, and nowhere more than in the different countries of the British Empire and in the United States with which Japan is at war," Mr King said.

"Retribution for barbarious behavior of this kind will follow in full measure in due course," Mr King promised the House.

The Canadian Government, with the Governments of Australia, India, the United Kingdom and the United States, was making every effort to get into personal contact with prisoners of war and others, both to gain authentic information and to provide food, medical supplies and personel comforts

Conservative House Leader Hanson said the statement would "help us to renew our determination to end forever those systems of government under which such atrocities and barbarities are permitted to happen."

NEW GOVERNMENT IN HUNGARY FORMED

LONDON, March 10 (CP).—Budapest dispatches to Vichy said today that Nicholas Kallay, former Minister of Agriculture and a life member of the Upper Chamber, had formed a new Hungarian Government to succeed that of resigned Premier Count Laszlo de Bardossy. De Bardossy resigned ostensibly because of poor health, but reports in Berne, Switzerland, said that his real reason was failure to gain support of all Hungarian political parties

WINCH FLAYS DEFENCE AND A.R.P. APATHY

C.C.F. Leader Demands Quick Action to Reassure Anxious Public

SITUATION IS CRITICAL BUT OTTAWA LETHARGIC

Asserting that "the situation is too serious—it is critical," Harold E. Winch, C.C.F. Opposition Leader in the British Columbia Legislature, in reference to the A.R.P. and defence conditions in the coastal areas, last night warned that "there has been too much apathy and passing the buck; we have got to get down to a realization that we are at war. The time has come to stop playing at war."

Voicing anxiety as to Pacific Coast defences and Air Raid Precaution preparations, Mr. Winch declared that the present is no time for military red tape and that quick action is necessary if people of the coastal areas are to be re-assured on both matters.

"I came to Victoria to confer with the Government, Major-General R. O. Alexander (G.O.C.-in-C., Pacific Command) and Commodore W. J. R. Beech (Senior Naval Officer, Commanding the Pacific Station) on four subjects," said Mr. Winch.

"They were, Pacific Coast defence; A.R.P., movement of Japanese from coastal areas and rehabilitation.

ACTION WANTED

"As for defence, I told them that the people of the coast were very much perturbed about this question. I offered the fullest co-operation of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation group. I told them that because of military and naval personnel in increasing numbers coming to us, pleading for immediate action, we felt that, in view of the increasing crisis, we were determined to have a showdown. Failing definite information and assurances of action we were prepared to put the matter directly before the people.

"I had a long conference with General Alexander and Commodore Beech. They gave me an attentive and courteous hearing and all assurances within their power, but I feel that Ottawa should realize the necessity for a wider viewpoint and cutting of military and naval red tape

LOCAL AUTHORITY NEEDED

"I feel that Ottawa should give the local commanders greater authority and speed up supplies for all branches of the service, including Home Guards. I then went to see Premier Hart and found him, in my estimation, greatly perturbed by the situation.

Mr. Hart agreed to telephone Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, in connection with our request to be kept fully informed and for necessary authority to be given commanders of all three services on this Coast to confer with the Premier and myself on Coast defence matters

"As for A.R.P. matters, my group is definitely of the opinion that if the Government does not move, we would have to make a public issue of the matter. Mr. Hart assured me that an advisory council would be named immediately and meet in a few days.

"If we, as individual citizens, don't wake up to a realization of the grave danger we are facing and volunteer for service where we can best serve, the time will come when we will be forced to serve wherever we are placed

"If A.R.P. is not established on an efficient basis, I would have no hesitation in recommending compulsory service if this danger is not met one way, then it will have to be met another way."

QUESTIONS DEFENCES

Turning to the question of defence, Mr. Winch said that "on paper we have a beautiful programme—so they say. But what is it? I don't know anything about it and neither does anyone else

"If we don't get action on these two issues, A.R.P. and defence fairly soon, we are going to move immediately and bring about that action by placing the situation before the public and telling them what we know. If the Government doesn't take action, we will

"In respect to movement of Japanese from the coastal areas to the Interior, the C.C.F. felt it was necessary that before our members attended the meeting of the advisory council in Vancouver on Thursday, I should confer with the Provincial Government in order to obtain full knowledge how British Columbia was tying in with Ottawa and the Security Commission in regard to establishment of camps, planning a works programme and supplying of requisites for maintenance and construction works

"The Premier also assured me that the Rehabilitation Council would be appointed in a few days. I told him the C.C.F. Opposition deemed it necessary that the council should be immediately appointed and proceed to work."

SUGGESTS SUNDAY AS DAY OF PRAYER

CANBERRA, March 11 (AAP).—A suggestion that Sunday next be set aside as a day of national prayer for guidance and intervention was made by Prime Minister Curtin today in a message to the heads of the Australian churches. Mr Curtin recalled that the day is the anniversary of the German invasion of Czecho-Slovakia.

Pilot Killed In Accident During Storm

HALIFAX, March 10 (CP).—A Royal Canadian Air Force pilot was killed today when his plane crashed into Bedford Basin during manoeuvres with another machine from the station at Eastern Passage, across the harbor from here.

The flyer was identified tonight as Sergt. Glen Herbert Israelson, of Hanley, Sask. His body was recovered by R.C.A.F. rescue craft.

The official statement said the crash occurred during "a violent snowstorm."

OAK BAY UNIT HIGH IN DRIVE

Municipality Failed to Reach Quota, but Support was Strong

While Oak Bay unit failed to reach its objective, on a per capita basis, it ranked with the highest in Canada in its support of the Second Victory Loan, A. O. Higgs, organizer, declared yesterday. With subscriptions totaling $1,153,000, its per capita contribution was approximately $127, Mr. Higgs said

"To those who feel disappointed that Oak Bay was unable to reach its objective of $1,410,000 I would point out that this objective was possibly the highest per capita in the Dominion of Canada," he said. "In addition, it must be borne in mind that many Oak Bay residents, who would willingly have subscribed to this loan, were unable to do so owing to the fact that their incomes have been seriously impaired by the war in the Pacific, and because incomes derived from the Old Country have become somewhat precarious.

RANKS WITH HIGHEST

"The raising of a total of $1,153,000 represents a considerable effort on the part of the Oak Bay residents inasmuch as this works out to about $127 per capita. On a per capita basis, therefore, Oak Bay ranks among the leading municipalities in Canada.

"Now that the campaign in Oak Bay has officially closed, I wish to express the sincere appreciation of all officials at the Victory Loan headquarters on the splendid co-operation of Oak Bay residents in achieving such substantial results from the campaign in this district.

"I also wish to extend my thanks to all members of the citizens' committee for their valuable assistance and to the members of the sales organization who have been, by their untiring efforts, so largely responsible for the excellent results obtained."

Troop Convoy From Dominion Has Brief Brush With U-Boats

Victoria Nurse Among Latest Reinforcements to Arrive in Britain—American Technicians and Soldiers of Occupied Countries Included

By ALLAN NICKLESON

A BRITISH PORT, March 10 (CP).—Another great convoy bearing reinforcements for the Canadian forces overseas, American technicians, nurses and fighting men of the occupied countries, has arrived in Britain following a smooth, swift voyage marked by a brief brush with U-boats.

Depth charges dropped from the escorting destroyers and exploding with vast mountains of spray dealt speedily with the U-boat threat and provided the only exciting moment in a voyage marked otherwise by routine exercises and drills.

I lined up with the passengers to watch the destroyers go about their work of eliminating the submarine threat. The U-boats had been detected during the daily shipboard drill.

DROP DEPTH CHARGES

The escorting vessels laid their depth charges. The weather was calm and the devastating explosions must have dealt effectively with any lurking prowlers. No further alarms were given during the voyage.

Tonight the men were in their camps, far from home, stationed with almost every branch of the overseas Canadian army.

One of the most popular men aboard the ship I traveled on was Lieut.-Col. W. P. Bristow of Vernon, B.C., who was on his way overseas to take up special work.

Among the new arrivals was Capt. G. G. Currie, whose father, the late Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, commanded the Canadian Corps during the first Great War and in succeeding years was principal of McGill University in Montreal.

NOT USED TO COLD WINDS

Sapper Murray Dockout, Victoria, attracted attention during the voyage by walking the decks with a heavy old-fashioned woolen toque on his head. He explained he was raised in the Pacific sunshine and was not used to the cold Atlantic winds.

Many of the seafarers were "prairie sailors" only a short time ago. Others were A. Temple of Vancouver, and F. H. Coverdale of Nanaimo.

Nursing sisters included Margaret Fletcher, Victoria.

BRITISH DRIVING TO JOIN CHINESE

air raid upon Tharrawaddy, however, killed some Burmese civilians.

GREAT DEMOLITIONS

Signalling the total loss, for the time being, of extreme Southern Burma, Allied engineers and drillers were carrying out great demolitions at Bassein, the important port ninety miles west of Rangoon, which itself already had been evacuated of military forces and stripped of all military value.

Afield, Lt.-Gen. Harold R. L. G. Alexander's forces made a successful withdrawal northward toward Central Burma, thus extricating themselves from what had been a grave position.

This was made possible in heavy separate actions, a subsidiary British force previously isolated around Pegu, forty miles north of Rangoon, smashing its way through the Japanese toward a junction with the main British bodies, which in turn broke through the Japanese astride the Rangoon-Prome road in two violent and bloody tank and infantry assaults.

RANGOON UNTENABLE

Rangoon has been made untenable not only by the temporary isolation of the Pegu force, but by enemy landings on the north shore of the Bakir River and on the west bank of the Rangoon River—landings opposed by a British sloop which incidentally captured one enemy craft to find that it contained a single Japanese officer and fifty-five traitorous Burmese.

Rangoon, according to delayed advices, was left a spectacular area of waste by the British scorched earth policy. The Syrian oil refineries twenty miles down river were smashed and the pipeline 300 miles northward was cut, these dispatches stated.

"Great warehouses, docks, quays, jetties—everything of any possible value to the Japanese—were ruthlessly blown up or set on fire," it was added.

A CONSTANT THREAT

The new British-Chinese front now being projected across Central Burma from the Chittagong area east of Calcutta to the upper Thailand border is intended to form a constant threat to the right flank of the enemy movement toward India.

Admittedly there is little present chance of reinforcing the British troops in Burma and it was evident the existing forces and the Chinese were counted on to halt the Japanese until India's own resistance can be fully organized.

Both British and Chinese authorities were reported concerned at present over the Lashio Railroad terminus of the now useless Burma Road, where large stocks of material for Chiang Kai-Shek's Burma troops are concentrated. Japan may try a major assault on Lashio.

There appeared to be more confidence here in Gen. Alexander's ability than in any other British leader since Sir Archibald Wavell smashed the Italians in Libya in 1940.

Gen. Alexander's immediate objective is to so harry the Japanese forces that they cannot make progress of consequence through Burma without first breaking his forces, and his second objective is to protect the projected Assam Road to China intended to carry the traffic of the old and now lost Burma Road.

All this marshalling of men and plans for India's defence was accompanied during the day by discussion in unofficial quarters of the possibility that Allied troops might move to occupy the great Vichy-controlled island of Madagascar in the Western Indian Ocean, which lies close to Africa's East Coast and in position to control Allied supply lines around the Cape of Good Hope.

These sources pointed to reports that a Japanese mission had been in Madagascar during the last six weeks seeking naval and air bases. They added that the Axis already is in control of one naval base in the South Indian Ocean, on the Vichy-owned Kerguelen Island southeast of Capetown.

NAME PROPOSED FOR PRESIDENCY

E. M. Whyte Nominated to Head Burns Society—J. Pitcairn Hogg Speaks

At the regular meeting of the Burns Society, held last night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, E. M. Whyte was nominated as president for the ensuing year and Rev. Dr. Bruce Taylor as honorary president.

Other nominations were: For vice-president, Neil Pollock; secretary, Harry Wood, Jack Smith; treasurer, J. Grant; executive committee, Dr. W. R. Gunn, Lawrence Stewart, W. Craig, R. Rankin. The society will elect its officers at the annual meeting April 14, which will take the form of a musical evening and social gathering.

The Georgian Singers, it was announced, will give a concert March 30 to aid the effort of the United Scottish War Societies. Artists contributing to last night's programme were Mrs. Slater, Miss Myrtle Corkle, Mr. Lashmer and Alex Semple, the accompanists being Mrs. E. A. Cartwright and Mrs. Bertucci.

J. Pitcairn Hogg addressed the society on "Constitutional Power of His Majesty the King," and pointed out that instances have occurred where a "commoner" holding the office of Lieutenant-Governor has exercised his powers to a far greater extent than has the reigning monarch.

Neil Pollock moved a vote of thanks to the speaker and the artists.

JUST A PITY

The street musician was tired and the kindly motorist agreed to give him a lift as far as the next town.

As they were racing at terrific speed down a hill the motorist suddenly shouted above the noise of the car: "What instrument do you play?"

The musician shouted in reply: "The violin!"

The driver crouched over the steering wheel peering ahead. He yelled: "That's a pity!"

"Why is it a pity?" demanded the musician.

"It's a pity you don't play the harp!" yelled the motorist. "The brakes won't work."

IN BRITAIN FOR OFFENSIVE ACTION

The press conference was held at the Canadian Legation and followed a long interview Gen. McNaughton had with Rear Admiral F. J. Horne, who in yesterday's shake-up of the United States naval command was made assistant to Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of naval operations. Later he saw Rear Admiral Emory B. Land, war shipping administrator and the man in charge of the merchant shipbuilding programme, and also inspected the Washington Navy Yard.

It seemed significant that Gen. McNaughton should spend so much time with American naval and shipbuilding officials, because he told his press conference the one limiting factor on the size of the Canadian army in Britain was shipping in the North Atlantic.

THE MAIN TOPIC

The question of general offensive operations against the Axis was the main topic of discussion at the press conference. The general said he could not be specific about his interviews with President Roosevelt and American and British military officials, but he admitted: "I have never had such a heartening experience in my life as I have had in Washington, and I will go back to my troops with very much increased confidence."

Gen. McNaughton said invasion of England this Spring "is one of the most dangerous things that can happen to us and we have got to be on the alert to meet it."

He said Canada was drawing on the United States for much of its war equipment and that it was paying for what we get.

Gen. McNaughton said he was willing at all times to talk about offensive action. "I have never talked about anything else. I believe in it and Canada believes in it because it must be obvious even to our enemies that we must build up our force as fast as shipping on the North Atlantic becomes available and we are not the sort of people who would move troops across the ocean just for the fun of it."

Asked if the development of Canada's forces overseas and their proper equipment would be affected by demands from West Coast cities for defensive weapons, Gen. McNaughton said: "Undoubtedly it will have an effect."

DECISIVE THEATRE

He said everyone must realize that those responsible for the prosecution of the war must judge what are the decisive theatres and then assure that maximum forces of men and equipment are concentrated there at the opportune moment.

"We must resist," he said, "the temptation to scatter our forces all over the map and we must run the risk of local attacks and raids that will cause commotion while we resist the temptation to dissipate our forces."

For the people who must undergo [illegible] raids it would be a tough time, the general admitted, but it was war and people are always getting hurt in war.

TRIBUTE TO RUSSIANS

In a tribute to the fighting efficiency of the Russian army, Gen. McNaughton said: "I am one of the people who always has had great confidence in what Stalin could do. I am lost in admiration for what the Russians have done and in their general military direction."

He believed the Russian victories would be "a very important factor" in bringing about the end of the war.

MONTH ON A RAFT

GOTHENBURG (CP).—Two seamen—one a Swede, the other a Dane—were miraculously saved after spending a month on a raft on the Atlantic after the sinking of the Swedish motorship Ynaaren.

FARMS' MILLIONS

The gross value of all commodities produced on Canadian farms in 1941 is estimated at $1,275,000,000, highest since 1929, compared with $1,[illegible] in 1940.

At the Theatres

RIO THEATRE. Dealing with the odd ability of Bob Burns to write song hits in his sleep without knowing it, RKO Radio's "Radio City Revels" is said to be one of the most ingenious musical films of the year. Jack Oakie, Kenny Baker, Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Milton Berle and Ann Miller are among the other stars in the picture which will end tonight at the Rio Theatre.

YORK THEATRE. George Formby's songs are among the most popular hits of the day and his ukelele playing is regarded as masterly, yet George cannot write or read a single note of music. He plays purely by ear, and the speed with which he manipulates his instrument is the result of constant practice. His picture "Keep Your Seats Please" will end tonight at the York Theatre.

ATLAS THEATRE. Gene Raymond has the role of Jeremy Wayne, the crazed suitor whose shot results in the tragic death of Moonyean, played by Jeanette MacDonald, in M-G-M's Technicolor version of "Smilin' Through," which will end tonight at the Atlas Theatre. The picture marks Raymond's first screen appearance with his wife, Miss MacDonald.

OAK BAY THEATRE. Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland are teamed on the screen for the sixth time in "Life Begins for Andy Hardy," which will end tonight at the Oak Bay Theatre. All the regular members of the cast are featured in the new film which finds Andy facing life on his own and called upon to make the most critical decision of his career.

CAPITOL THEATRE. Donald Crisp, for thirty-five years one of Hollywood's character actors, and Sara Allgood, for years a famous stage actress, combine their experience and talents in their respective roles of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan in the film based on Richard Llewellyn's best-seller, "How Green Was My Valley," which will end tonight at the Capitol Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE. No fewer than seven songs are sung in the tuneful picture "Moonlight in Hawaii," now showing at the Plaza Theatre. They are sung by Jane Frazee, Johnny Downs and The Merry Macs, who play their first starring roles.

DOMINION THEATRE. Nancy Coleman has the leading role in John Garfield's new picture "Dangerously They Live," which is currently showing at the Dominion Theatre. This is a play in which John falls in love with Nancy and saves her from the machinations of a group of Nazi spies seeking to gain important information about convoys moving across the Atlantic.

CADET THEATRE. "Whistling in the Dark" presents a comedian famous on the stage but comparatively new to the screen in one of the funniest offerings in many a season. Adapted from the Broadway stage hit, the picture offers fast-talking Red Skelton, who is famous on the stage in every large city in America, in his first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring role. The picture will end tonight at the Cadet Theatre.

BRITAIN'S EXPENSES CONTINUE TO RISE

LONDON, March 10 (CP).—Britain's expenditures for war needs are £14,300,000 ($64,000,000) daily "and expenditures will show a further rise in the next few weeks," an official spokesman declared today.

The total Government expenditure was approximately £88,500,000 weekly from votes of credit, of which the fighting services took £68,000,000 weekly—nearly £9,750,000 each day, he said.

"We have left far behind the highest amount of expenditure in the last war and our requirements continue to increase," he said.

About 5,000,000 people in United States will pay income tax this year for the first time.

APPOINTMENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Staff and Other Changes Are Listed by National Defence Minister

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP).—Appointment of Lieutenant-Colonel John E. Lyon, of Ottawa, as director of military operations and intelligence and of Lieutenant-Colonel L. M. Chesley, of Montreal, as director of staff duties at National Defence Headquarters, each with rank of colonel, was announced Monday by Defence Minister Ralston.

Colonel Lyon, a permanent force officer with twenty-five years' service, succeeds Brigadier R. B. Gibson, recently appointed assistant chief of the General Staff (Home Defence). Colonel Chesley, at the outbreak of war second-in-command of the Victoria Rifles of Canada, succeeds Brigadier W. H. S. Macklin, appointed deputy adjutant-general last month.

Colonel Lyon served in France and Belgium from July 1916, to the end of the war with the 7th Battalion, Canadian Engineers, temporarily as battalion intelligence officer. His commanding officer was Major Kenneth Stuart, Chief of the General Staff.

In October 1936 he came to Ottawa as general staff officer (2nd class). In September 1940 he was appointed G.S.O. (2nd class), operations, and in December of that year became G.S.O. (1st class) operations, with rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Colonel Chesley served with the Imperial Army during the Great War and was transferred to the Imperial Army Reserve of Officers in 1919. Returning to Ottawa he joined the 3rd Signals Battalion as captain and adjutant.

In 1922 he moved to Montreal and joined the Victoria Rifles with rank of lieutenant. He was appointed to directorate of military operations and intelligence at National Defence Headquarters in July, 1940.

In September he was transferred to the directorate of staff duties as G.S.O. (second class) and in May 1941 was promoted to lieutenant-colonel.

Both Col. Lyon and Col. Chesley were educated at Ottawa Collegiate Institute and Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont.

WHOLESALE ATROCITIES

Whatever veneer there was to Japanese civilization has been stripped off in the melting pot of war. The disclosures by Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, of the treatment of prisoners-of-war and of civilians as well in Hongkong since its capture by the enemy make revolting reading. They are based on what is described as unimpeachable testimony and show in plain language that it is savages the United Nations are fighting in the Pacific area. The worst stories told of German atrocities in the conquered states of Europe parallel those that have come out of Hongkong, but this is the first time in the present War that British soldiers and other British nationals have been the victims, and perhaps Canadian soldiers and Canadian nationals as well.

Since Japan has violated international usage of prisoners-of-war she has stamped herself as the exponent of sadistic vengeance. By the manner of her entry to the War she broke all the canons of international law. Her practices in Hongkong show that there is neither chivalry nor common decency in the lexicon of her works. A country whose soldiery can murder unarmed prisoners-of-war and change the bayonet into the assassin's knife is dishonored beyond redemption in the lifetime of the present generation. Perhaps what has happened in Hongkong gives an inkling of what is meant by the New Order in Asia. It is not as if the Japanese at some time or other had suffered indignities at the hands of the British, such as might call for vengeance as that purpose is estimated in the Oriental mind. There is no record of this during the present War, or before. The butchery, the atrocities as a whole, were wanton acts, the product of evil passions, and showed a total disregard to those amenities supposed to exist between nations, even when they are engaged in hostilities.

Perhaps these depravities will serve still further to consolidate the determination of the United Nations in their purpose to punish aggression. There is more still for them to punish now in the "deep damnation" of the assassins of Hongkong, by whose acts a whole nation is indicted in the eyes of the civilized world. Cunning, treachery, malignity and cold-blooded murder are weapons in the arsenal of Japan, as this War has disclosed. There is no reason to suppose that the disclosures that have come out of Hongkong are isolated ones. They have been reproduced wherever Japan's path of conquest has lain. From now on there is a better realization of the degraded character of the enemy who has to be dealt with in the Pacific, and dealt with for the very preservation of the decencies of life.

INTERN THE JAPANESE

One of the reasons advanced on behalf of the Federal Government for dealing "gently" with the Japanese problem in British Columbia was that if drastic action were taken it might lead to reprisals against prisoners-of-war and citizens of the Empire now in the hands of the enemy. Prior to the time that this excuse for inaction was given, nationals of the Empire were being persecuted and executed in Hongkong and unarmed British soldiers were being murdered. Still, after over three months of war in the Pacific, only the fringe of a solution of the Japanese problem in this Province has been touched. A few hundreds of members of that race have been removed to work camps, not to concentration areas. They are to be paid for the work they do. There is no information from Hongkong or from any other place conquered by the Japanese, that British, or any other citizens of the Empire are being rewarded for engaging in work for the enemy. Ottawa has been mealy-mouthed about this problem from the beginning.

So far not a single Japanese, not one of those of that racial origin, has been interned, and, according to Ottawa's present purpose, there is no intention of putting such potential enemies out of harm's way. The only decision is to remove a certain number of them out of the protected area of British Columbia, to give them jobs to do and to pay them for work. Wherever they are, in whatever part of Canada, they remain potential enemies. After what has happened in Hongkong, with all its ghastly details, there should be a rigid determination on the part of the Federal Government to intern all Japanese. That is not a reprisal; it is a step in insuring the defence of this country. It has been advocated for weeks past by public opinion in this Province. It is not felt that the 24,000 Japanese of British Columbia will be safe unless incarcerated in internment camps. Meantime, because of the slow processes of Ottawa, only a small beginning has been made in the removal of those of Japanese origin from the protected area of this Province.

INEFFECTIVE PUBLIC OPINION

The session at Ottawa has been in progress since January 22. The only decision it has reached so far, that could be interpreted as having any bearing on the War, is the passage of a bill providing for the taking of a plebiscite to release the Prime Minister from pre-election promises which have hampered war effort. That plebiscite is to be held on April 27 and Parliament is to adjourn from March 27 to April 20 in order to allow its members the opportunity of airing their views on the plebiscite before their constituents.

One day, very recently, three speeches were delivered in Eastern Canada. One was by Miss Dorothy Thompson, the well-known columnist. She was not speaking of any particular country when she said: "The moment a nation allows itself in a world dominated by force, to be put in a position where it can only wage a defensive war, [illegible] enemies can attack it at will, that [illegible] as an independant Power." [illegible] was another of the speakers and he dealt specifically with Canada in saying; "We are doing less than our maximum." The third speaker was Lieutenant-General A. G. L. McNaughton, who said; "We must drive forward." To quote Miss Thompson again; "We cannot defeat Hitler and Japan at the rate we are going with half-measures all taken belatedly."

In view of the foregoing statements there is wonder felt and a feeling of frustration plainly evident because Parliament is willing to mark time until the taking of the plebiscite. Even such a complacent supporter of the Government as The Montreal Star has been in recent months says that what Miss Thompson notes about defensive war can apply as much to Canada as any other nation. It comments; "We see the process of drawing in our horns going on all about us. We talk of retaining men to defend our own frontiers; we debate passionately and in a dishearteningly partisan and sectional spirit the advisability of compelling our men to do their duty. All this when we know, as surely as we can know anything, that this war, before it is won, will demand of us every ounce of energy and every fighting hand that we can muster."

Another opinion expressed because Parliament is doing so little is that by The Calgary Herald, which asks if public opinion is ineffective in Canada. It says; "the winds of protest against inaction and inefficiency can rise to gale force in other lands than England. Isn't it high time that similar popular indignation and unrest over lethargic war leadership should be manifest in Canada? The war is approaching both the East and West shores of this Dominion, but the House of Commons engages in endless debates with little accomplished. Convened on January 22, the session is fumbling along with nothing of a serious war decision yet reached. Instead there is the thrust and parry of political debate while the free world faces a most dangerous challenge . . . Are there no 'winds of protest against inaction and inefficiency' gathering force in this country against a lackadaisical war administration and an uninspiring war leader? Surely public opinion in this country is as alive to the nearing totalitarian threat as it is in the Old Country."

GENERAL KNOWLEDGE

In a general knowledge paper set by King William's College, Isle of Man, and done unseen before Christmas, the highest mark obtained by any boy was 77 out of 360. When the paper was done again, after the holidays, and after the boys had time to prepare, the highest mark was 310 out of 360. The Times newspaper admits that the paper was one of the hardest set in recent years and at the time it first came out it published some of the questions. In a later issue it gave more of them, with the answers. Here is a selection:

"'Woe to those who break treaties' was said by Napoleon, and it was Queen Victoria who said 'No one is depressed in this house.' An arabn is (or was) used for personal transport in Turkestan, an arabiyeh in Egypt, a berlin in Western Europe, a carozzin in Malta, a carro in Madeira, a dhooly in India, a jinricksha in the Far East, a norimon in Japan, a troika in Russia, and a toast-rack in Douglas. Divination by water is hydromancy, by mice myomancy, and by entrails hieromancy. The Lizard (in 'Alice in Wonderland') wrote with the ink that trickled down his face, and, 'who wrote to whom for his cloak, his books, but especially his parchments' concerns the writings of St. Paul to Timothy. The income which Mr. Micawber specified in his recipe for happiness was £20, Solomon's yearly tribute to Hiram was 20,000 measures of wheat, and the National Revenue (British) in 1939 was £930,-935,000. The following phrases are now completed and explained: 'Sac and soc' (jurisdiction granted to a manor), 'tare and tret' (regulations about weight and make-weight in trucks), 'but and ben' (outer and inner part of Scottish cottage), and 'hob and nob' (toasting of each other by drinkers). Martin Chuzzlewit was conveyed to America by the Screw, President Roosevelt to the Atlantic meeting by the Potomac, and St Paul to Rome by the Castor and Pollux. The world's largest island is Greenland, its longest river the Missouri-Mississippi, its most followed religion Christianity, its greatest organ is at Salt Lake City, and its longest sleeper was Barbarossa. In 1941 the thirty-three years' trek that ended in Kenya was Baden-Powell's, our Blitzstrahl aus blauem was Hess, and the new Rasselas who came to his Happy Valley was the Emperor of Abyssinia."

DIRGE

Dead is the day of glamour
  Of castles in air and Spain.
Of tinsel and fancy boxes,
  The era of cellophane
The years of sophistication
  And cynical 'Well, who cares!'
The epoch of brass and bluster
  And multiple millionaires
Past is the hour of nostrums,
  Word jugglery masked as truth,
Of lollipop education
  Insurgence and flaming youth
Gone is the time for trifling,
  For limitless gasoline
The worship of specious talkers
  Vague thinking and culturine
Dead is the day of folly,
  Of wastefulness, yours and mine,
Bid it farewell forever,
  Mourners may form in line

—Arthur Guiterman in The New York Herald-Tribune

POLITICS AND CONVERSATION

It is in politics as in conversation. He is not the best member of the social circle who talks the most, but who succeeds the best in promoting general conversation; and he is not the best statesman who is the greatest doer, but he who sets others doing with the greatest success.—Edinburgh Review (1807).

Though Justice against Fate complain,
And plead the ancient Rights in vain—
  But those do hold or break
  As men are strong or weak

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

It is a pleasure, in these days, to find a man who will stop to weigh the suitability of a word. A correspondent at Sidney has done that, and this is a note of thanks, and of explanation, to him. The word was "resistless," used in connection with an individual who was no longer fighting back at the circumstances of his life. My friend suggests "unresisting" would have been closer to the meaning. I am delighted to receive the suggestion, but I am not able to agree. Actually, I tried the word "unresisting" and it would not do what I wanted done at that place. A man may be unresisting today, and resist staunchly tomorrow. The word I was looking for was one that would deprive the individual of his innate powers of resistance permanently, or at least for some time to come. So I crossed out "unresisting" and wrote in "resistless." Well, like so many other words in the English language, "resistless" has several meanings. Two are clearly marked, and contrary. One refers to that which cannot be resisted, a dominant, overcoming force. The other meaning expresses that state in which the power, or it may be the will, to resist is gone. That was the meaning I sought. I was dealing with men who, through war service, had been burned out inside. None the less, my friend is to be thanked. He has done me a service. I forgive him for not referring to the other 9,999 words in the same series, because we have, between us, settled one. That is an accomplishment in these days. The settlement is clear and explicit. He is to take "unresisting" and I shall take "resistless." We are agreeing, companionably, to disagree. At least that is my offer, coupled with sincere congratulations and thanks.

At the conclusion of "What Is Art?" by Dr D. B MacColl (which was available locally in the small-book series), an artist and a scholar has depicted a sublime picture of "The Last Curtain" as an artist might see it. Artists are concerned with precious instants of time, and Dr MacColl, former keeper of the Tate Gallery and a distinguished British critic, has seized upon humanity's last moment for as whimsical and as clever a conceit as one is apt to find in a year's solid reading. The picture is not to be taken literally but suggestively. It pictures the Great Artist come in person to judge His own handiwork, to compose the earth for its last great painting, and then to fix it immutably in space and time. A broad hand is stretched over the chaos of physical things. The hills heave and fall into a matchless composition. Such buildings as are required in the picture are changed and moulded in perfection, so that each line will fall into its proper place. Human beings, the world's great and small, are then judged as an artist would see them, and in particular as the Great Artist and Final Critic may see them. The rest is dissolved and taken away. Only that which is perfect remains. And so, at "The Last Curtain" the world is perfectly without flaw—and quite dead. As it is more than fifty words I have not the right to quote the passage without express permission, but that is the sense of the theme. It was meant, one believes only as whimsy, yet there are powerful implications in it. The imperfections of the human spirit, the tatterdemalion hearts of mankind, the grossness of the body, and much else besides likely will be worked out before the last picture is painted—and judged—dim ages from now. Dangerous fellows, artists. They can do things to you with the effortless precision of a seeing-eye.

Dutch Evacuees Reach New York

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP).—A United Nations ship arrived today with the first group of evacuees from the Netherlands East Indies since the Japanese invasion of the islands.

On board were thirty passengers, [illegible] States citizens, employees of oil and rubber companies and their wives and children.

The vessel left a Netherlands East Indies port on January 21, before the actual invasion began. Passengers said that the voyage was uneventful.

The Observation Car

By G.B.

Rev. Lorimer G Baker, who spent nine years in Manchuria, recently stated during an address at Duncan, "Japan wants British Columbia enough to come and take it, and soon. They believe that people of their race are waiting for the day when their forces will 'liberate' them. They claim Indians were of Oriental stock, and originally came from Japan. The best preparation for a Japanese attack is a citizens' army. The people should rise up and organize such a body themselves. The toughest army to defend this coast would be one formed of citizens." . . . It appears the Federal Government is to blow $468,350 on a large army training centre at Chilliwack. Instead of unloading all that money in the Fraser Valley the Department of National Defence could establish a camp at Willows Park which already has a number of large buildings and could be obtained at a reasonable rental from the City Council. Early in the war the council planned to rent the park to the Federal Government, but the deal was not consummated. "Too much politics on the other side," one of the city negotiators told us. . . . Early yesterday morning an alert R.C.A.F. copper reported to city police that a Japanese was at large on Wharf Street. Constables Tommy, Bob and Ed lost no time in racing to the spot. They soon found the alleged enemy was merely the Chinese cook from a ship. . . . From Forest and Outdoors, "Shotgun hunters are the worst offenders when it comes to leaving cripples in the field probably because they outnumber the big game hunters about ten to one. Perhaps 25 per cent of the shotgun hunters afield are boys and young fellows new in the game, and of the other 75 per cent more than half of their numbers are shooters who go hunting so infrequently that they never really learn how to shoot." . . . "Is that your cigarette butt on the freshly-washed floor?" the boss sternly asked Bill the Broad Street barber. "Go ahead. You saw it first," Willie smirked.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt drydock at any tide add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of March 11, 1892)

Two Runaways—Yesterday morning, a horse, attached to a wheelbarrow by means of a long rope tied around the animal's neck, made a lively runaway through several of the main streets, without doing any serious damage. It was a considerable time before the steed was caught as the person who attempted to stop it was himself in great danger of being struck by the revolving barrow as the animal could not be readily checked by the head.

Pedestrians Suffer—Building operations are now in progress on Pandora Street, between Douglas and Blanshard but strange to say, no temporary sidewalk has been provided for the convenience of pedestrians. When they wish to pass the projected building they are required to wade through mud that is ankle deep.

The Blankets Found—The blankets which were lost off the steamer R. P. Rithet, some days ago, were yesterday, found by small boys who were playing around Captain Grant's wharf and happened to notice them under the wharf. The boys immediately notified Officer McDonald, who took the blankets in possession. The C.P.R. Company's mark was stamped on each of the blankets, and it is thought that the thief, seeing he could not do anything with them, hid them away under the wharf. The officer has a good idea who the thief is, but as sufficient evidence has not been secured no arrest has yet been made.

ON THE RECORD

—By DOROTHY THOMPSON

TOWARD A FREE INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY

The outstanding events of the last week are Donald Nelson's speech and Philip Murray's whole-hearted reaction to it. Mr. Nelson asked for an immediate 25 per cent or more increase in production and proposed a new system of collaboration between management and labor in the factories. He proposed joint committees of labor and management to meet and overtop quotas assigned to the factories, with schedules for every division of the work laid out on score boards, and competition between workers for honors and rewards offered the working soldiers of the factory front. And he also asked that machinery be set up whereby individual men in the factory could submit ideas and suggestions for more rational production, which might then be spread throughout industry.

This plan has now been accepted in toto by Philip Murray, of the C I O.

Now, the labor problem has been most worrisome, and there have been two approaches to a solution of it. The first was by legal restrictions and force. Actually a bill passed the Senate but became bottled up after that.

The second possibility involved a change in the mind of labor and management. That was what the President hoped for. On the side of labor, as far as it is represented by the C I O, there is now acceptance of a new attitude. Mr Murray has unconditionally renounced strikes for the duration of the war, and he appeals to the millions of the workers of his unions to co-operate voluntarily with management in the Nelson scheme. And with it, Mr Murray calls upon trade union leadership and the rank and file of workers to accept responsibility for winning the war, asserting boldly and truly that there is no class or group in the United States who have more to lose from defeat than the workers.

TIMID OF CHANGES

Now, there are elements in the United States who are timid of any internal social changes during this war. They might agree with Colonel Kernan that "defence will not win the war," when defence is thought of in military terms.

But on the domestic front, they still have the defence mentality. They want to preserve the pre-war status quo, especially as it applies to the status of workers. Many even go farther, they hope to use the war as a means of restricting the power and influence of organized workers.

Now of course, there are many criticisms that can be made of trade union practices, many have been made in this column. But he is a victim of self-imposed blindness who closes his eyes to the outstanding fact of twentieth century society, the struggle of workers all over the world for a new status.

What is it the workers want? And what has their status been?

In our predominantly middle class society their status has been that of a kind of alien in an industrial empire. Their only wealth has been their capacity to work, and as long as there was a demand for their work, as a commodity, they were all right. But they could at any moment be deported from the empire, put outside its gates, to await on charity, like penniless immigrants, until the doors opened again.

Labor unions confined themselves for a long time to bargaining for the price of the commodity but there has been growing up all over the world the realization among workers, that their labor is not a commodity, but is their only capital, which must be invested in society, that the plant in which he works belongs to the worker and to his team, equally with those who finance it and those who manage it, and that the way in which the plant is used—or not used—is as vital to him as the wage he is paid.

HEALTH AND EFFICIENCY

The fight for reduced hours began as a movement for the protection of the worker's health, but became a protective device for all workers to assure a distribution of employment. Of course, the same problem could be solved another and better way, by such an organization of production and distribution as would provide continual work for all and thus return the question of hours of labor to where it belongs, a matter of health and efficiency.

Now there arises a situation which is new. Because of the war there is no such thing as over-production, for there is an avid market for all that can be produced. This situation could be used in two ways: to tell the workers that there is no longer any real need for trade unions—as the Nazis did. Or, it can result in the integration of the organizations of the workers in the whole productive scheme, giving them equal status with ownership and management in return for equal responsibility for production.

FREE INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY

Both Mr Nelson and Mr Murray have chosen the second way, and we all ought to be very happy about it, and do everything in our power to help it work. For if it works, it shows the way to the establishment of a free industrial society that can have all the productive power of the totalitarian societies with the democracy for which we are fighting this war.

It is not true that it represents a restriction of private enterprise and individual initiative. It democratizes private enterprise by spreading it to the workers also. Carried out universally, it can abolish the proletariat in the United States, for the worker will walk into the factory not as a hired man but as a responsible member of the factory team, and any sabotage of the factory becomes sabotage of his factory, the responsibility and use of which he shares with management and ownership.

This is the greatest opportunity [illegible] had. It will be opposed, because it is the nature of the human race to oppose anything new. But if the workers make a demonstration that it brings increased and more efficient production, we shall see the beginning of a new labor democracy which is the logical result of our world-wide fight for freedom.

SOME PEOPLE ARE HONEST

Sir—In your newspaper during this week I read an article referring to the honesty of Victoria citizens. A visiting seaman, home on leave from the Atlantic, lost his wallet, papers, money, etc. When the wallet was found it was lost again, but eventually reached its owner. I wish all citizens here were as honest as the ones who returned that wallet. I am also a visiting Australian seaman and on my first night ashore here (February 25) I lost my wallet containing some twenty dollars, Alien Registration Card for the United States, plus my own Australian document of identity, several discharges from various vessels I have worked on, my crew pass and other papers, which, to me, were very important and irreplaceable. I had a card with a "Finder Please Return to Me" inside the wallet. I advertised in your newspaper and the police very kindly had it broadcast over the radio, but it was no use. I failed to have it returned. I think the very least the finder could have done was to have returned my papers and keep the money, as the papers were of no use to anybody who got hold of them. So I have formed the opinion that at least all folks in Victoria, B.C. are not honest.

Maybe if this was published and the finder was to read it, the finder's conscience may trouble him or her and the wallet be returned less the money, to the city police via post or some other channel.

A CORRECTION

Sir—In your issue of January 4 last you published a letter under the caption "Fairness to British Columbia Japanese" purporting to have been written by Charles Flick, lieutenant-colonel (retired), which letter referred to Lieut. Alan Chambers, M.P. and stated, 'Mr Chambers was born and educated, according to his own statement to myself, in an enemy country. Presumably Mr Chambers would feel very indignant if the police told him he had to have his fingerprints taken and his property taken over by an official custodian pending inquiry as to his bona fides."

The Nanaimo Central Liberal Association, to allay unfounded rumors that can easily arise from the above quoted passage of Mr Flick's letter, takes this means of placing on record that Lt. Alan Chambers, M.P. was born in Yorkshire, England and received his senior education on the continent with a view to qualifying him for a position in an embassy if he should later choose that vocation.

It appears to the Nanaimo Central Liberal Association that remarks such as the above quotation from Charles Flick's letter are quite uncalled for.

WHEAT ACREAGE RESTRICTION

Sir,—This Eastern reader was attracted by the following assertions in your editorial page columns, Colonist of February 25: (1) 'We shall throw the enemy from the gates of Leningrad and liberate White Russia, the Ukraine and the Crimea" (Premier Stalin (editorial, "Russia's Offensive"), and (2) 'We thought—do you remember?—that every soldier (returning from the last war) would make a farmer even though he had never been on the land for a single day' . . . (Note and Comment, by Sandham Graves, "Rehabilitation—2").

Somehow, to my mind, those two widely separated statements have a relationship. It is well that we remember that, notwithstanding the achievements of our valiant Russian ally at March 4, 1942, four-fifths of "the golden Ukraine" is still west of the battle-lines. In this area, according to the best figures I can reach, a normal crop of the four principal grains (wheat, rye, barley, oats) aggregates about 780,000,000 bushels, or a little better than every fifth bushel in the Soviet Union. The position of these one-time fertile acres, at this writing, is obscure. I think that anything approaching "a normal crop" would be a miracle, for either friend or foe?

To me, it is fantastic that the above situation should synchronize with Jack Canuck's "wheat acreage restriction" plans—with an eye on today's market and today's stored wheat, but knowing nothing of the war road ahead, and less about the weatherman's plans?

I am glad to note, from the news columns, the decision of the United Nations to move 2,500,000 tons of wheat and flour to Russia. Under certain circumstances, a demand might come for another installment of this vital lease-lend assistance, and still a third installment. In other words, if the shipping were available, we could shovel 250,000,000 bushels of cereals and flour into Russian ports—and it would all be needed, and be none too much.

Yes, Sandham Graves, I remember; but I also recall that wheat was then three times today's pricetag, that the West was still in its "golden" age; that we knew nothing about a depression decade with ruinous prices and thin yields, and a farm-debt load of $1,000,000,000 at 5 per cent.

WALTER P DAVISSON,
G.P.O. Box 73, Toronto, Ont., March 4, 1942

IN SAN FRANCISCO

Sir,—Having read the letter to you from H. H. Wilcox, dated February 7, in which he quotes Allan Watson, I would like to tell you a few things about the progress of the civilian defence organization here in San Francisco.

There are two post air wardens to every ten residences. The air wardens have received arm bands identifying them as such. The air wardens are spending two nights of each week on air raid precautionary and first aid. The air wardens have had all householders fill questionnaires, listing all members of that household, number of cars, bedrooms, invalids, if any, etc., and, in case of evacuation, where members would go. The air warden has a personal record of the household with extra information such as position of master electric switches.

San Francisco has had eight siren alarms and those in authority seem to think the people are taking them very seriously. Since December 8 I have had two rooms with completely blacked windows and dimmed emergency lighting. Everyone I know is taking this very seriously. We even sand out our fireplace fires during blackouts. We have several buckets of salt and free sand on our first floor.

We certainly are not going around acting gloomily about all this. We aren't gullible to all the fantastic prophecies, but we are prepared for anything.

Civilian auxiliary police have been in training for more than three weeks. They give every week-night until 10 o'clock. They have further training on their programme.

The school children are drilled regularly and wear identification tags at all times. Mothers even telephone each other if they are going to be absent from their homes on a certain day so that the child has a definite destination should schools receive an "alert."

All this talk of the complacency of the American and Canadian civilian population is pretty hard to take. What is called complacency could be splendid morale and an echo of Mr Churchill's "We can take it." It seems to me we are taking this most conscientiously and we are certainly not in a position to do any shooting or launching of ships.

(MRS.) JESSIE NOACK

MR. SUBHAS CHANDRA BOSE

Sir,—You published in your Saturday issue a dispatch from London which refers to Mr Subhas Chandra Bose as being "Axis sponsored." Herr Goebbels could not have disfigured truth in better style. Everybody should know that Bose is the protege of the Comintern, subsidized by it as the standard bearer of Communist theories. He was arrested in 1925 for his Red revolutionary activities, released at the request of his friend, Mr Gandhi, and he has remained in the forefront under the aegis of the same masters. Lately his policy may have embarrassed his associates in the Congress because it interfered with their private interests, but the rift, if any, is only superficial.

The whole Indian question may be summed up as being the endeavor of the privileged caste of the past—moneylenders and their ilk—to restore their power to oppress the masses they had lost under the control of the British rule. It is peculiar to see the "Capitalists" in India supported unanimously by Communists and their fellow travelers. An anomaly among many others.

Navy Sailors Make Gallant Rescue of Shipwrecked Crew

Allied Freighter, Driven Ashore on Sable Island, Provides Opportunity for Deeds of Heroism on Part of Officers and Seamen

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP) Naval headquarters reported today that ships and men of the Royal Navy and Royal Canadian Navy had effected the rescue of thirty-eight survivors from the broken after section of an Allied freighter and brought them safely to an Eastern Canadian port. The freighter, the navy announcement said was "storm-tossed in the icy waters on the shoals off Sable Island, the graveyard of the North Atlantic."

Ten of the freighter's crew, including several officers were lost, most of them when the forward section of the broken freighter drifted away to founder and sink on the shoals.

One petty officer of the Royal Navy died in the course of rescue operations. He lost his life through exposure caused by clinging to the hull of an overturned whaleboat for twenty-five minutes in the icy water.

"But," said the statement from naval headquarters, "from the time the navy took over the job every survivor alive on the wreck was brought safely into port."

MATTER OF HOURS

For the survivors death appeared only a matter of hours away when the navy men rescued them. A lanky red-headed radio operator emerged as a hero, having stuck to his key even after the ship cracked in two. The storm-battered freighter was swinging around to resume her course after a vain search for a man washed overboard by mountainous seas when she was lifted high amidships by a giant wave, the navy said.

Bow and stern were out of water and heavy cargo fore and aft caused the ship to buckle and break in two. An SOS call was sent immediately from the wireless room in the after section of the ship while the helpless crew saw the fore section with several officers and men aboard drift off through the stormy spray of the sea.

The SOS, received in the operations room of the naval control division on the Atlantic Coast, brought lean grey warships on patrol in the area to the scene of the wreck.

Gathered in the after-section of the broken freighter the bulk of her crew made rapid preparations to abandon the wreck in one of their few remaining lifeboats. It was discovered however that the engines were still capable of being operated and slow speed astern was made to hold the after end into the wild seas.

New preparations were made to abandon ship when she grounded on the shoals and sank. She pounded heavily throughout the night. Dawn broke over wild waters as the courageous survivors rigged a make-shift wireless antenna on top of the wireless room and sent weak distress signals.

Shortly afterwards a Catalina flying boat of the R.C.A.F. Eastern Air Command appeared and signaled help was on the way.

NAVY TO RESCUE

Within an hour the survivors made out the outline of warships to windward, said the navy. "Despite the heavy sea running the Canadian warships ordered seaboats away immediately and two whaleboats were manned and sent down on the wreck.

"Both whaleboats were swept past and carried over the shoals to the deep water on the leeward side beyond. Next rescue effort was made from a warship of the Royal Navy when a sailing whaler with a picked crew under the command of her first lieutenant was sent away. A scant fifty yards from the wreck a giant comber capsized her.

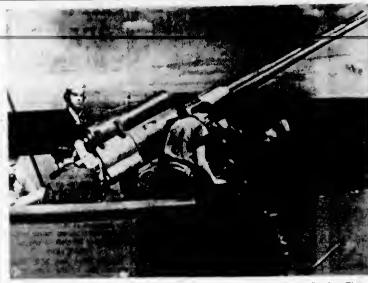

"The men clung to the hull and a volunteer crew of Canadian seamen with a Royal Navy petty officer immediately put off in one of the Canadian whalers and rescued the British whaler's crew. All of them recovered from their immersion with the exception of one Royal Navy petty officer.

"The other Canadian whaler then put off from the warship with an R.N. sub-lieutenant at the tiller and a mixed crew from the Canadian boats' crews and the British warship drawing alongside in the heavy sea," said the navy.

"They were able to reach the wreck and take off twelve of the survivors. With the same sub-lieutenant at the tiller and a fresh mixed crew, the whaler put off again and brought off twelve more survivors." Then with darkness falling the Canadian whaleboat, this time in command of an R.C.N.R. lieutenant and a mixed crew made the third trip in the light of the warship's searchlight. This time nine survivors were taken off before the heavy seas made it expedient to cast off and return to the ship.

"The crews were worn out but four survivors still remained aboard and so they ran through the breakers once more and successfully rescued the last four survivors."

SHIP TONNAGE IS CONFUSING

All Vessels Are Measured in Gross, Net and Displacement Tons

"Reading about ship losses and replacements since the current war began the given tonnage of such-and-such a ship is often the cause of considerable bewilderment on the part of the average person. He does not altogether grasp the differences in tonnage figures relating to one ship by different authorities and wonders what is the real meaning of net, gross and displacement tons.

It might be well for the public to understand that a vessel could appear large, medium or small in size depending on how her tonnage is reported.

To attempt to give any idea of the size of a ship by giving her tonnage as 10,000 is as misleading as to say a factory is one hundred feet, one authority illustrates. A vessel described as 4,000 net tons may be of 15,000-ton displacement or 7,300 gross tons. Obviously therefore it is most important to know which type of tonnage is meant in order to determine the size of a ship.

Although all ships displace their weight of water, vessels vary in beam and depth. Destroyers, submarines and racing-boats have a narrow beam. Battleships, cruisers and most cargo vessels have broad beams. Tonnage of all war vessels is calculated and given in displacement tons.

The capacity of freighters and passenger ships may be given in gross tons, but gross tonnage has nothing to do with the weight of the vessel, that is displacement tonnage. Gross tonnage is based on the internal capacity of the ship, at one hundred cubic feet to the ton.

If the space occupied by crew's quarters, machinery and ship supplies is deducted from gross tonnage, the remainder is known as net tonnage. It indicates the ship's earning capacity and thus becomes the basis for registry, navigation and port charges.

Obviously, net tonnage on a passenger ship may not indicate the weight the ship can carry. For instance the size of one of the elaborate passenger ships might be registered as a large number of tons when as a matter of fact this space would never carry its quota of cargo.

To show the wide variation in tonnage compare the three tonnages for a passenger-type vessel. She is listed as 37,500 tons displacement (her weight without cargo), 21,000 gross tons (her internal capacity), and 13,500 net tons, or what she would carry if all available remaining internal space were loaded with cargo.

WELL PLEASED OVER RESULTS

Chairman of C.P.R. Bond Campaign Announces $3,435,850 Subscribed

TORONTO, March 10.—Canadian Pacific Railway Company employees from coast to coast on Saturday at midnight—the official closing time in the Second Victory Loan drive—had subscribed $3,435,850, according to H. J. Humphrey, vice-president and general manager, eastern lines, who is in charge of the campaign throughout the system. Mr. Humphrey, who said that these figures included subscriptions from subsidiary companies, stated that the lists would be kept open until Saturday, March 14. This grand total is exclusive of many bonds bought by officers and employees directly through the banks.

So far, 28,400 subscribers have taken $3,435,850 worth of bonds compared to 8,728 who subscribed for $2,094,060 worth of bonds during the entire First Victory Loan drive.

In the present campaign, eastern lines have subscribed $1,881,850 with 18,676 subscribers, western lines $1,416,750 with 10,343 subscribers, while 1,381 officers and employees of the Canadian Pacific Express Company have taken $137,150 worth of bonds. This eastern lines figure of $1,881,850 includes $473,400 worth of bonds taken at Angus shops by 6,397 subscribers and $212,100 worth of bonds taken at head office, Montreal, by 1,603 subscribers.

Mr. Humphrey expressed himself as very well pleased with the result up to the official closing time but hopes that there would be even yet many more subscribers to swell the final total.

DEATH TAKES AGED BANKER

Arthur Twiss Broderick, Pioneer Rancher, Passes in Mainland Hospital

[illegible] pioneer rancher-bankers on Sunday when Arthur Twiss Broderick, eighty-three, died in North Vancouver General Hospital. He will be buried today in Vancouver.

Born in County Cork, Ireland, Mr. Broderick received his early banking experience in his native county. He came to Canada in the early eighties, settling on a ranch near High River, close to the "E.P." Ranch now owned by the Duke of Windsor.

During the Riel Rebellion, he purchased horses for the Government, acted as scout and was in charge of an army wagon train from Edmonton to Medicine Hat. He was known to all the settlers in the then sparsely-settled district and had many stories to tell of hardships endured by the pioneers.

IMPORTED CATTLE

During his ranching experiences, Mr. Broderick imported the first trainload of cattle into Western Canada, buying several carloads in the Eastern Townships and was granted a specially low freight rate to encourage the cattle-raising industry on the prairies.

Mr. Broderick forsook ranching after some years to enter private banking and operated banks in all three provinces. He later was engaged as manager of branches of the old Union Bank in various parts of the prairies and in 1906 was sent to Prince Rupert to open a branch there.

He remained in Prince Rupert until his retirement in 1924, being prominently identified with development of that city.

SETTLED IN VICTORIA

Following his retirement Mr. Broderick settled in Victoria, living for many years at the Pacific Club. He also was a member of the Uplands Golf Club. He moved to Vancouver two years ago.

Mr. Broderick came from a prominent Irish family. A brother was a banker in Eastern Canada, another for many years city clerk of Baltimore, Md., and other brothers in various parts of the Empire. One of his sisters married into the well-known Burke-Roach family. Vice-Admiral Ernest A. Taylor, who commanded H.M.S. Renown when that warship visited Victoria with the Prince of Wales in 1919, was a nephew. Another nephew was Lionel Taylor, well-known horticulturist, formerly of Sidney, V.I.

Army Satisfying To Former Wall Street Operator

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 10 (CP)—A one-time Wall Street financial tycoon who last year piled up earnings totaling $77,000, sailed with the group of Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen whose safe arrival in Britain was announced today.

Now a [illegible] in the Canadian Army, W. D. Stewart of New York City, said he liked his new life "just fine," and "wouldn't go back to Wall Street for the world."

Stewart said he was married and had three children. "They are still in New York, living with my father. He too fought under the Union Jack, being a member of the Black Watch in Scotland."

B.C. MAY TAKE WORK TRAINEES

Province Lays Plans Before Ottawa for Camps on Forest Projects

British Columbia may take up to 3,000 work trainees in revolving camps for fire prevention work in the woods this year if plans now laid before the Dominion by the Province are approved, Hon. A. W. Gray said yesterday.

The nucleus for the system of camps exists already from forestry training centres of previous years. This accommodation will be added to as required.

For the most part, the men will be placed at work in groups of from two to fifty under competent forestry management, with the camps to be run in a disciplined fashion. If the plan goes through as the Province now expects it will they will be given fire watching, trail making and other work in the woods.

The first of the men may arrive in a few weeks' time, depending on the working out of the details of the scheme. British Columbia proposals have already been laid before the Dominion, after Cabinet concurrence in the scheme, Mr. Gray said.

As the men will be called under four-months period of training it is expected that the personnel in the camps will be revolving to some extent. Not less than 3,000 men, however, may come to the Coast under the scheme, with return transportation to their own homes when the training period is finished.

VANCOUVER, March 10 (CP)—Seventeen striking employees of the Contractors Sash & Door Supply Company have ended their walkout, left their jobs and are seeking work elsewhere in "a more vital war industry," Nigel Morgan, secretary of the International Woodworkers of America, said yesterday. The men sought a cost-of-living bonus.

Smart Ensemble for Spring

By [illegible]

SPRING redingotes present many opportunities for stretching the wardrobe as a good cloth coat may be worn with other dresses, while the dress may appear later without a coat. Bright color is the rule in this costume still, the wool coat in green with the print dress in rust-red. The hat repeats the red and a self flower of the dress print ornaments the lapel of the coat. Note the easy dresslike lines of the coat which may also be worn over brown, black or sand color dresses. The bag is baby calf, highly polished, which may be matched to shoes of the same leather.

Capacity Audience Applauds Students' Musical Programme

Talent Parade Presented by Victoria High School Students Is Outstanding Success—Proceeds Aid Red Cross—Repeat Performance Tonight

VICTORIA High School students sang their way into the hearts of a capacity audience in the school auditorium last night when they presented a colorful operetta, "Viennese Fantasy."

Throughout the programme, which included singing, dancing and instrumental selections, the students displayed an almost professional air of assurance and joy in performance. The programme was presented under the direction of Miss Norma Douglas, the High School music teacher, a member of the staff for one year.

PLAY LEAD

Byrdie Eilers and Dick Brawn, playing the leading roles in the operetta as Princess Sonia and the Gypsy leader, received prolonged applause for their solo numbers and duets, and at all times they were admirably sustained by the choruses, and the costuming and stage settings lacked nothing in creating a picturesque atmosphere.

"Berlin Diary," the story of the music of Irving Berlin, was cleverly narrated by Don Holms and directed by Harold Johns. "Alexander's Rag-Time Band" was an amusing skit in costumes of Bowery days, when the young actors and actresses completely lost themselves in the spirit of the music and displayed a remarkable sense of comedy and timing.

Earl Morrison, master of ceremonies, led the opening number when the audience joined in the singing of the school song, and Barbara Wilson, Kay Simpson, Kay Davidson, Velda Wille and Marion Millar, in bright red and white costumes, performed a Drum Majorette Drill.

GOOD TIMING

The "Changing of the Guard," directed by Miss Cathe[rine] Horn, was carried out in perfect timing. The guards were Joan Webb, Mary Patterson, Claire Pyle, Pat Anderson, Gwen Robertson, Velma McLorie, Sheila McBain, Buddy Wright, Gloria Lee, Ruth Ferry, Phyllis Bray and Margaret Mi[illegible]; sentries, Jean Anderson, Doris Cawsey and the junior chorus, and the drummers were Isobel Erskine and Elsie Mathews.

Helen Finlayson and Eva Lind Hunter performed a popular Highland dance, accompanied by Kathleen Dixon, piper.

Sydney Glover, judging from the applause of his fellow students, was a favorite artist on the programme. Ken Harwood sang a cowboy song accompanying himself on the guitar, and Albert Denonn was applauded for his piano accordion solos.

ACTORS

Playing in "Berlin Diary" were Don Kerley, Bob Stevenson, Shirley Howard, Sylvia Abbott and Margaret Burns in a duet; Margaret Husband and William Lorentz, violinist; June Gibson, Alf Duplain, Velda Wille, Reg Fleming, Kay Burns, Ira Green, Thelma Hawkins, Gwen Peacock and Dick Shaw were dancers in "Alexander's Rag-Time Band." Miss William Grace, Mary Patterson and Ron Macdonald were the accompanists and the dances were arranged by Miss Florence Clough.

Girl Guides' Reports Read

The East Victoria District Local [illegible] annual meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Curtis Sampson, the district commissioner, Mrs. L. A Clenge in the chair. Guides and members of the association were reminded of the meeting on March 28.

In the secretary's report, Miss "Boo" Wilson expressed the thanks of the Guides to the commissioner for her help during the year and made mention of the exemplification of the spirit of service by guides which through them is being developed in full measure among the companies and packs. Miss Wilson also thanked the press for courtesies. Among the outstanding activities during the year was the bridge and mah jong party at the home of Mrs. Sampson and the showing of two films by Major Wilson, the first a picture of British Guides in war work, and the second, "Wild Life in the Indian Jungle." As a result of the showing, an appreciable amount was raised for the Ranger Wilson warplane fund. The address by Miss Winnifred Kydd had been a highlight in recent months.

Miss A. B. Cooke, the treasurer, reported the sum of $214 having passed through her hands during the year.

INDIVIDUAL REPORTS

Reports of Guides and Brownies were read by the following: Oaklands, Mrs. W. Harrison; Edith Cavell, Miss M. Lowe; Gonzales, Miss N. Pite; Joan of Arc, Miss P. Law; Oaklands Pack, Miss Janet Dobie, and Gonzales Pack, Miss Jean Oliver. A variety of activities carried out with enthusiasm and energy was recorded in the reports.

Warrants were requested for Florance Greenway, lieutenant in Joan of Arc Company, and Jean Oliver, Tawny Owl in Gonzales Pack.

After the business meeting refreshments were served from a table centred with a bowl of giant saxifrage.

Local Players Heard In Radio Presentation

"The China [illegible]," the sixtieth production of The Arts Club, directed by Harold Gelling, was presented over Station CJVI last evening. Those taking part were Harold Gelling, Frank Lindsay, Bill Hutchinson, [illegible], Kirk Owen, Don Port[illegible], Jean [illegible], Bob Hamilton and Marguerite [illegible].

Next week the club will present a [illegible] play, "Autopsy at Midnight," from 9 to 9:30 o'clock on Tuesday evening.

What Today Means

"PISCES"

If March 11 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon, from [illegible] to 3 p.m. and from 9 to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m., from 7 to 9 p.m. and from 11 p.m. until midnight.

Try to comply with all reasonable requests on March 11, for refusals are not apt to be taken graciously. Some deep-seated resentment probably will be the cause of most adverse criticisms [illegible] on this date, so weigh individual criticisms carefully before accepting them as being justified. Mental sluggishness is likely to result from overeating, so it will pay to be moderate in the consumption of nourishment. Hit-and-miss methods will be responsible for an unnecessary accumulation of work, so it will be good judgment to refrain from employing such methods. Apparently a number of accidents will happen within the next twenty-four hours because of people being preoccupied while they are handling breakable objects, so keep your mind on what you are doing. Married and engaged couples as well as those under Cupid's magic spell, will do well to settle their differences themselves on this date without any assistance from a third party if peaceful relationships are to be maintained.

If you are a woman and March 11 is your birthday it will be well to remember that you always can be frank without being disconcertingly so. The more tactful the manner in which you handle people and situations the better off you will be and the better results you will attain. Your best results may come because of the patience you display whenever you are confronted with a complicated situation. As a business manager, newspaper woman, fiction writer, actress, [illegible] broker, demonstrator, teacher or musician your accomplishments ought to be outstanding and well remunerated. You will in all likelihood make your marriage completely successful.

The child born on March 11 generally requires, on approaching maturity, a great deal of tactful handling. A sensitive nature frequently makes this youngster resentful of criticism and efforts to place restraint upon his movements. A marked degree of ability probably will be reflected in the activities of this youngster.

If you are a man and March 11 is your natal day never make the mistake of thinking that your services are indispensable to anyone. To be successful you will have to display a readiness to co-operate with those whose interests are closely allied to your own. As a merchant, military man, public official, clergyman, manufacturer, scientist, horticulturist, agriculturist, sales representative, contractor, promoter or in some artistic profession you are apt to be pre-eminently successful.

Remember Without Wanting

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

CHAPTER XLV

Stephen had resigned. Harriet had told her with a mixture of sadness and joy, the former because Stephen undoubtedly would be leaving Clinton, the latter because Larry, Harriet's husband, had been made Forbes' assistant and had been given a sorely needed increase in salary. And Judith thought, "Stephen won't call me again. He's proud and he's a [illegible] man without a job." She [illegible] had a few moments [illegible] over him since he had taken [illegible] confidence and [illegible] understood fully the reasons behind his resignation and remembered his [illegible] ambition. Would he cling to the latter despite discouragement and unemployment and a dwindling bank account? Would he achieve the best now? He came and went in her mind as all things came and went in her mind these days, all things except Max. Max remained stubbornly steadfast there, rooted with her memories of those three months into which she had so happily poured the best of herself.

She was lunching alone in a hotel cafeteria one day when she saw Stephen carrying a tray. He stood still and smiled rather weakly, looking confused, embarrassed.

"Mind if I join you?" he said.

"Not at all. I hate eating alone."

He was still confused and embarrassed a few minutes later when she said gently, "We thought you had gone back to Baltimore, Stephen. But we didn't think you'd go without saying good-bye." She had to be kind to him and she wished she could think of something even kinder to say to take away his look of discouragement and hurt and shaken confidence.

"I wouldn't go away without saying good-bye to Harriet and Larry and [illegible] I've been trying to get a job here." He shook his head. "No luck."

Your bad luck was Larry's good break. Harriet had a maid three [illegible] a week now and a new coat of which she was touchingly proud.

He tried to smile. "I guess I'm too particular. How are you doing? I heard you were working at Overton's. I was surprised."

"Were you?"

"I didn't think you'd ever leave New York."

"[illegible] being surprised at the things people do." She thought, "You're afraid, Stephen. Your confidence has been shaken and you're afraid. This can ruin you, cheat you out of everything you want and are capable of doing. Isn't there anyone to give you a pat on the back and tell you the things women tell men they love when the men are discouraged? Why doesn't your mother tell you? She said, 'They say you can't hold a good man down, Stephen.' Harriet said that a man can be too smart for his job and that you were too smart for yours. You still want the best, don't you?"

He smiled. "Hadn't I had a few drinks when I said that?"

"Yes, but you meant it and you can still get it."

"You're so sure? You wouldn't kid me, would you?"

She shook her head.

"I have an appointment this afternoon with an executive who freezes you with one glance. Maybe I will take some of this coffee."

"That's much better. Don't let him know he's freezing you. Don't look too anxious for the job. I have to rush off, but my time is up."

He rose with her. "If I get that job this afternoon I'll call you. If I don't I'll call you anyway—to say good-bye."

She walked away, not seeing the look of determination in his face. She forgot him the instant he was out of sight. Always when she pulled on her glove she felt the bracelet Max had given her.

She was wearing the bracelet that evening when Stephen called and said, trying to control the excitement in his voice, "Well, I landed that job."

"He didn't freeze you then?"

"Maybe it was the coffee. He was swell. Underneath all that dignity was a sense of humor. And it isn't just a job. There's a chance to do some really creative constructive work. Not the routine sort of things I had at the other place. This is a big company. I haven't anybody to celebrate with me if you won't."

"Tonight?"

"What's wrong with tonight?"

"Nothing. We'll make it tonight. At eight." And she thought, "I mustn't hurt him. If I find he's caring for me I won't see him. I'll never hurt anyone as Max has hurt me."

He was there before eight and in the living-room talking with her parents when she came down. And he was the Stephen who wanted terribly to be liked, who took her dancing at Clinton's best hotel.

"Nothing is good enough for tonight," he said, looking at her across a small table. "It must be champagne."

"I hope you always have the best."

"You said I [illegible]." He frowned. "[illegible] wearing that bracelet." [illegible] "I've never seen you [illegible]."

"It was [illegible]."

"I thought so." He [illegible] at her. "You're a funny girl."

"You mean you don't understand me."

"I mean you always make me talk about myself so that you won't have to talk about yourself. I've told you more about myself than I've ever told anyone. You make me want to talk. It's not very interesting to you."

"[illegible] your right to celebrate, not to analyze me."

"Okay. Shall we dance?"

So it was not champagne for reunion with Max, but champagne with a young man named Stephen Larrabee who had got a job that day.

NO EXCEPTIONS

[illegible] explained that all [illegible] owned by Japanese [illegible] Vancouver Island must [illegible] and at [illegible] the Willows by sunset [illegible] Thursday, or a little in advance of the curfew hour.

Federal orders requiring the surrender of cameras and radios still stand, but an immediate drive is being made to bring in the cars, the Thursday collection deadline being without exception.

BUILDINGS TAKEN OVER

VANCOUVER, March 10 (CP).—Austin Taylor, chairman of the British Columbia Security Commission which has charge of removing all Japanese from the Pacific Coast defence [illegible] today has [illegible]. Exhibition buildings at Hastings Park had been taken over for use as a manning pool in evacuating the Japanese.

The Livestock Building, enlarged last year, and the Women's Building have been taken over for the purpose, Mr. Taylor said. They will be used to house 1,500 to 2,000 Japanese at a time.

The Japanese will be temporarily housed in the buildings until they are moved to points in Interior British Columbia and on the Prairies, Mr. Taylor said.

Another 124 Japanese nationals will be moved east over Canadian National Railways tonight to join those already sent to work camps on the Alberta-British Columbia border. Of these, ten will go to Lucerne, fifty to Rainbow, fifty to Red Pass and fourteen to Gosnell.

NO FEAR OF INFLUX

Mr. Taylor said that no Japanese would be moved into any district where there was any opposition to them working in the area.

At a special meeting, the Raymond, Alta., branch of the Canadian Legion last night adopted resolutions protesting against a reported influx of Japanese into that district. An official at Lethbridge, Alta., said today, however, that Japanese who had moved to Southern Alberta were under strict supervision of Federal authorities.

They won't be moved into an area until opinion is unanimous in favor of it, Mr. Taylor said.

WHERE SERVICES REQUESTED

He said the Japanese would be moved only to areas where their services had been requested and then only if there was no opposition to the move.

No Japanese have been moved out of the Pacific Coast area to other than road camps since the commission had been set up, Mr. Taylor said. He said none would be moved for a period and that the commission had issued no permits to date.

The commission chairman declared all Japanese would be moved under supervision as to what work they would do.

No washing job is complete without . . .

SUNLIGHT'S "EXTRA-SOAPINESS" for the extra dirty parts

CLOTHES get badly soiled in the same difficult places week after week. Pillow cases are dirtiest where sleepy heads have rested . . shirts at the collar bands and cuffs. Almost everything in the wash has extra soiled parts which require an additional soaping to get them really clean.

Any soap—bar, powder or flakes—will remove the general dirtiness. But much of the grime clings tightly, and only the Sunlight method of washing will remove it. Sunlight has a wonderful "extra soapiness" which enables you to get right at the extra dirty spots at once. Just apply lightly—scarcely more than a mere touch—and you leave a film of soap right in contact with the dirt. And because it is Sunlight Soap this film is sufficient to loosen the last tiny speck of stubborn grime.

In the rich Sunlight lather every particle of dirt is carried away, yet the action is gentle—safe for the finest materials. It is all good pure soap and that purity means perfect safety for everything in the weekly wash. It's gentle to your hands, too.

You can't do without SUNLIGHT SOAP. A LEVER PRODUCT

CANBERRA, March 10 (AAP).—Australian war expenditures during the first eight months of this financial year were nearly $1,000,000 daily.

DINNER MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Oak Bay United Enjoys Lecture and Programme Of Music

The Oak Bay United Church celebrated on Monday night its [illegible]teenth anniversary with a banquet which took place in the Sunday School room, and was prepared by the ladies of the congregation. Following the dinner, the guests adjourned to the church auditorium where an address was given by Rev. Dr. R. Bruce Taylor and a programme of music presented by the choir and visiting artists.

Rev. F. R. G. Dredge, the pastor, was chairman and tendered a welcome to all on the occasion of the anniversary. He introduced Dr. Taylor, retired president of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., who gave an account of the fall of France and the harrowing experiences which Mrs. Taylor and himself had in escaping from that country. Dr. Taylor was heartily thanked for his interesting discourse.

MUSICAL INTERLUDE

Under the direction of Lawton Partington, choir master and organist, a pleasing musical interlude took place. Arthur Jackson contributed four songs, "Glorious Devon," "There's a Land," "Youth" and "The Postillion." Miss Marion Mitchell was heard in the following selections, "Three," "The Arrow and the Song," "I'll Walk Beside You" and "A Mother's Croon."

A mixed quartette comprising Mrs. L. Partington, Miss A. Townsend, George Burnell and H. P. Jeffreys, sang two compositions, "In This Hour of Softened Splendor" and "Sweet and Low." A ladies' trio composed of Mrs. J. Blyth, Mrs. L. Partington and Mrs. O. W. Mellor, rendered two numbers, "The Song and the Breeze" and "Hours of Dreaming."

The Oak Bay Church Choir sang "Angels" and "Lullaby."

Large congregations attended on Sunday the anniversary services, the sermons morning and evening being preached by Rev. Dr. Taylor. Special music was rendered by the choir and assisting artists.

URGE POLICY OF CAREFUL CREDIT

The increasingly important place of credit as the war progresses and the need for careful control of this facility if it is to fulfill its proper economic function in the difficult days that lie ahead, were stressed by speakers at the luncheon meeting of the Victoria Credit Granters' Association, in Spencer's dining-room, yesterday.

Officers elected at the previous meeting were installed as follows: R. F. Whellams, president; Percy Noel, vice-president; H. B. Dawson, secretary-treasurer. Committee chairmen named were: L. W. Cox, programme; L. E. Everden, bureau; R. W. Lockhead, attendance; O. M. Prebliee, education; G. A. A. Hebden and H. B. Dawson, membership; A. V. Gill, publicity; Nigel Giles and G. Robinson, auditors.

Walter Fletcher, retiring president, installed his successor. Reporting on the association's activities during the year he told of difficulties found in interpreting the Government's regulations. He saw [illegible]ing days ahead and urged care in the granting of credit.

According to Culbertson

The correct use of a take-out double is something of an art unto itself. Most decidedly, it is not a simple matter of counting one's honor tricks. Today's hand illustrates the logical handling by both partners of this type of double.

West, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Dble	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♦	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

North was eminently correct to double the opening heart bid rather than make a diamond overcall. From North's point of view the "future" of the hand, if any, was in spades, not diamonds, and his duty, therefore, was to coax a spade response from South. Note the logical development from that point. South, of course, was not strong enough to respond with a jump bid in spades, and North could not afford the direct spade raise that would virtually guarantee four good trumps. Instead North properly adopted a "marking time" bid, showing his diamond suit, and South then was able to rebid a suit which, under normal circumstances, could not be rebid unless it had already been raised. North's take-out double of one heart had invited a spade response (the other major suit) and that invitation had not been withdrawn merely by North's failure to raise spades.

South realized that North might be worried about a very weak spade suit in the South hand, something such as J x x x. South's actual holding was so much better than this that he properly determined to make that fact clear. The spade rebid, therefore, was entirely justified. Also, it paved the way to an excellent contract. After hearing the rebid, North could afford to raise spades, and South, with two queens on the side which might be very valuable (they turned out to be vitally important) went to game, which was fulfilled without difficulty.

The notable point in this bidding sequence is North's timing of his spade raise. The player who doubles for a take-out should not raise the forced response at his first opportunity unless he holds excellent trump support. By bidding another suit and later raising the forced response, information is clearly conveyed that the responder needs some length or strength in the suit in order to proceed safely.

AIR FORCE RECRUITS GET SPECIAL COURSE

VANCOUVER, March 10 (CP).—The first class of recruits to be given a special course to raise their educational standards were enlisted today for training as pilots and observers at the Royal Canadian Air Force Recruiting Depot. Twenty-seven men were sworn in after a five weeks' course of "cramming" mathematics. They had stopped school at Grade X, whereas Grade XII standing is required for pilots and observers.

NO. 76—EIGHTY-FOURTH YEAR — VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1942

SECOND NEWS SECTION

Glancing Over Sport

By JOE DELAHUNTY

REFEREES UNDER FIRE

Apparently it's going to be the same old story when the British Columbia men's senior basketball series between Victoria Dominoes and Vancouver Tookes opens here on Friday night at the Sports Centre at the Willows, namely the referees. Yesterday Manager Dave Nicol, of the local team, stated the club would refuse to take the court against the Mainland winners unless the provincial body provided outside whistle tooters. In other words the Dominoes manager wants to have two American officials handling the series and not one from Vancouver and Victoria in charge. For the past several seasons the same old trouble has crept into the picture and many a merry argument there has been since the Blue Ribbons first won the British Columbia championship back in the 1932-33 campaign. Even last season the Dominoes' officials were just ready to tear everybody to pieces after losing that last game to the University of British Columbia at the Willows when they argued violently that Art Chapman veteran tip-off star, had only three personal fouls against him instead of four, as Bob Whyte, the appointed scorer, had on the books. A few years ago the provincial final nearly ended up in the courthouse when the Dominoes refused to go to Vancouver for a replay of a protested game. However we all got aboard the afternoon steamer at the last minute. It's not the first time this thing has happened as we have had Tommy Macedo, Alan LeMarquand, Wally Stipe, Joe Polley, Ralph Thomas, Bob Macnutchie and a few other referees on the carpet in past years.

ODDS AND ENDS

Officials in charge of the recent big indoor track meet held in Madison Square Garden were more than surprised when Leslie MacMitchell, ace miler, turned in an expense account of only seventeen dollars. When Glenn Cunningham was winning these events all over the country, nightly expenses amounted to $500 . . . Trainer John Gaver says he had no idea of entering The Rhymer in the $50,000 Widener Handicap until he learned that Jockey Eddie Arcaro was free, then he decided to take a shot at the moon . . . The Japanese submarine that shelled the California coast recently, fired Head Coach Stanley Williamson of Santa Barbara Junior College, right into the United States Navy. The school decided to drop all athletics so Stanley got a commission in the Naval Reserve . . . H. E. Tynan, of Vancouver was king for a day at the Colwood course during the Empress tournament. He won the medal honors on the opening day and then was eliminated in the first round of match play yesterday by a Far Easterner, Y. Roy, of Quebec, on the final green. . . . New York Yankees broke a tradition of twenty years in meeting a team of the American League in a Spring contest. Now they wish they hadn't for Washington Senators trimmed them on Monday by a 9-2 score. . . . Joe Kirkwood famous golf trick shot artist says he never wins any big championships because he knows too many ways in which to play every shot. . . . A lot of the experts still figure that Market Wise is the horse to look out for in the Kentucky Derby next May 2. Alsab may be in there running his heart out for a victory, as he was certainly flying coming down the home stretch in last Saturday's big event at Hialeah after getting away to a very poor start.

SPORTS GOSSIP

Several well-known Victoria boxers are going to enter the Canadian Northwest Pacific tournament which will be held on the Mainland late this month. Most of the Navy fighters the lads who cleaned up in the Services event in Vancouver recently, are in strict training and have their eyes on those titles. Fighters like Grayston, Rayson and Hickie from the Naval Barracks will be feared opponents from the first round of the gong. . . . Wonder where all the members of the Victoria Cougars winners of the Stanley Cup hockey honors back in 1924-25 against the Montreal Canadiens, are these days? That team included such well-known stars as Frank Fredrickson, Slim Halderson, Gordon Fraser, Frank Foyston, Jack Walker, the late Happy Holmes, Harry Meeking, Gizzy Hart, Clem Loughlin, playing captain, [illegible] a chap who sat on the bench most of the season. The following season this same squad reached the cup final, but were beaten in Montreal by the Maroons, a series in which the popular Jocko Anderson, a forward who weighed no more than a good-sized jockey, broke his hip. That was the finish of Jocko's hockey career. . . . The Navy-Army hockey match at the Arena on Friday night should draw a bumper crowd as it is the start of the play-off series. Most of Victoria's sporting public will be in that vicinity the same evening as the Dominoes open their bid for the provincial cage honors in the building next door.

RING TOURNEY AT VANCOUVER

Service Boxers Expected to Take Part in Amateur Card on Mainland

Jess Addison, secretary of the British Columbia Amateur Boxing Association was in town yesterday "drumming up business" for the Canadian Northwestern Pacific championships at Vancouver on March 27 and 28.

Boxers from Seattle, Tacoma, Bellingham, Everett, Portland and other Pacific Coast cities will be invited to compete against the best scrappers in Alberta and British Columbia.

Victoria, according to Mr. Addison, will be represented by the Royal Canadian Navy and the Army with about a dozen entries coming from the two branches of the service.

Amateur meets staged by the provincial organization in past years have been confined to Canadian boxers, but this year fisticuffers from south of the international border have been invited to compete.

Net proceeds from the two-day show will be equally divided between the British Columbia Amateur Boxing Association and a special fund for sending comforts to British Columbia boys serving overseas with Canada's armed forces.

Anglers to Meet Monday Evening

The annual meeting of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association will be held next Monday evening at the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock. General club business will be transacted, officers for the coming year elected and annual reports submitted. All members are asked to lend their support by attending.

Three Victorians Left in Running; Medalist Defeated

Al Falk, Ernie Brachat and Dave Palmer Survive First Rounds of Match Play in Empress Golf Tournament—Tynan Loses on Final Green—Mrs. Crawford Wins

A trio of Victoria golfers are still in the running for the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy as the first rounds of match play were completed in the men's championship in the fourteenth annual Empress tournament at the Colwood course yesterday. They are Al Falk, veteran southpaw, who was only two strokes off capturing the qualifying round honors on Monday with a net score of 70, Ernie Brachat, of Gorge Vale course, who won the medal three years ago at the Oak Bay links and was in the semi-finals of the trophy event at Colwood in 1940, and Dave Palmer, a low handicapper at the home layout.

Falk eliminated A. C. Broad, Vancouver, on the seventeenth green, 2 and 1, while Brachat accounted for Jimmy Cunningham, Colwood entry, 3 and 2. The Gorge [illegible] maker parred the first five holes to take a three-up lead and from then on coasted home to victory. Dave Palmer [illegible] D. Hamilton, Vancouver [illegible] publisher, 4 and 3. Lee Steil, one of the leading golfers in Northwest amateur circles for several years, and winner of [illegible] open events not so very long ago, advanced to the next round at the expense of Mel Crawford, Calgary, 2 and 1, after giving away plenty of strokes. Steil, who hails from Seattle, is one of the strong favorites left in the running.

WHALEY ADVANCES

Ralph Whaley, [illegible] who has picked up [illegible] silverware in these tournaments in past years, got [illegible] Art Hurst, Gorge Vale, was his victim, 5 and 4. The tournament medallist, H. E. Tynan, Vancouver, went to the sidelines when he lost to a French-Canadian, Y. Roy, from East Quebec, on the final green, one up. Two of the matches went to the nineteenth hole, Frank Wright winning over Stanley Ellis at the first extra green and H. U. Johnstone, Camrose, Alberta, a former champion, beat George Parsons, Seattle, the same way.

Eileen Pendray, young golfer from the Uplands links, who lifted the Beatty Trophy [illegible] years ago had a narrow escape in her first match. She beat out Mrs. Ann Des Brisay, Vancouver, on the twentieth green after a [illegible] battle. The [illegible] medal winner, Mrs. Mel Crawford [illegible] by [illegible]. Two of the favorite Vancouver, Mrs. Jack Todd, the former [illegible] and Mrs. Ken Lawson [illegible] stayed in the trophy [illegible]. The Versatile Bruin Star

WILLIAM "FLASH" HOLLETT

WHEN he scored both goals by which the National Hockey League champion Boston Bruins defeated the Detroit Red Wings, recently, to complete, for them, the first half of the present race, William "Flash" Hollett stamped himself again as one of the most versatile players in the major league.

Hollett is one of the few real all-rounders in the major league. He can do a handy defence job, and if injuries prevent any forward from appearing the young Easterner can step into the breach in first-rate fashion. The [illegible] lad has been known to tally payoff goals and seems at his best in crucial tilts.

Hollett is a veteran of the National Hockey League wars. He turned professional with Toronto Leafs, in 1932-33, was later sold to Bruins, and though playing defence most of last season managed to score nine goals, and register fifteen assists, in league play. In the Stanley Cup battling, his scoring powers were in full swing. He got three goals and four assists as Bruins swept to the Stanley Cup.

Island Play-Off Fixtures Carded For Cage Squads

ISLAND play-off cage games are scheduled this week with Victoria quintettes providing the opposition for teams farther north. Bob Whyte will take his two girls' teams to Duncan tomorrow evening to open their championship bid and on Saturday the Up-Islanders will play on the local floor. Harold Turner's K.V. [illegible] will [illegible] perform at Duncan Thursday and the clubs will play again here on Saturday. Sooke intermediate A hoopsters will oppose Port Alberni Thursday at Sooke in the first game of the Island finals. Second contest will be played Up-Island Saturday. West Road and Navy senior "B" men's squads meet this week in a sudden-death fixture for the Lower Island crown and the winner will journey northward to meet Port Alberni Saturday.

BOSTON, March 10 (AP).—The defending champion Boston Bruins assured themselves of at least third place in the current National Hockey League race and [illegible] the Chicago Black Hawks 9-1 tonight before a skimpy 8,600 crowd at the Boston Garden.

The one-sided contest, considered a preview of the [illegible] play-offs, became a rout in the second period when the Bruins put on a three-goal splurge to break a deadlock. They lashed [illegible] through the harassed Sam Lo Presti during the [illegible].

The Black Hawks, performing without Earl Seibert, their star defenceman, scored after seventy-four seconds of play when Rookie Bill Mosienko batted in a long pass from Bob Carse. Gordie Bruce put the Bruins into a tie about five minutes later.

While the Bruins were sharpshooting at Lo Presti during the last two periods both Flash Hollett and Roy Conacher scored twice against him. The other Boston tallies came off the sticks of Des Smith, Jack Shewchuk, Jack McGill and Herb Cain. The latter was greatly excited about [illegible] 1941 [illegible] N.H.L. career.

Syl Apps Given Byng Trophy by Hockey Officials

Centre Star of Toronto Maple Leafs Handed Over Silverware for Best Type of Sportsmanship During National Hockey League Season—Winner Has Big Margin

MONTREAL, March 10 (CP).—A new honor was bestowed on Sylvanus Apps tonight, when the great centre ice star of Toronto Maple Leafs was named as the winner of the Byng Trophy, awarded annually to the player in the National Hockey League adjudged to combine the best type of sportsmanship with a high standard of playing ability.

Announcement that Apps had won the coveted individual trophy was made by Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League. Eleven hockey writers in the six National Hockey League cities took part in balloting conducted by the league with Apps winning in a walk. Second place went to Gordie Drillon, also of the Leafs, while Bill Thoms, of Chicago Black Hawks, was third.

Each hockey writer named [illegible] choices with ten points being allotted for a first place vote, nine for a second and so on down the line. On that basis Apps compiled 100 points from eight firsts, two seconds and one ninth. Drillon, who received one first place vote, had sixty-six points while Thoms, who got two votes for first, had sixty-four.

In naming Apps as the winner of the award, the writers took into consideration the fact that the Leaf centre has yet to incur his first penalty this season. And he is tied with Drillon as Toronto's leading point-maker. Apps has eighteen goals and twenty-two assists for forty points while Drillon has twenty-three goals and has helped in seventeen others.

MANY MENTIONED

In all thirty-one players were mentioned in the balloting with little Bobby Bauer, the Boston Bruin star who won the award in the last two seasons and who now is on the Royal Canadian Air Force, drawing only an eighth place vote for three points.

Drillon and Thoms, who is Chicago's leading point-scorer with fifteen goals and thirty assists, each has spent six minutes in the penalty box so far this season. The first ten in addition to Apps, Drillon and Thoms was rounded out as follows: Clint Smith, New York Rangers, fifty-seven; Bill Howe, Detroit Red Wings, forty-seven; Lynn Patrick, Rangers, thirty; Buddy O'Connor, Montreal Canadiens, twenty-three; Max Bentley, Black Hawks, twenty-three; Eddie Wiseman, Boston Bruins, twenty-one; Lorne Carr, Maple Leafs, seventeen.

The Byng Trophy is the second individual National Hockey League award to be won by Apps in his six years in the League. As a freshman Apps won the [illegible] Trophy in 1936-37 as the outstanding rookie of the year. In his rookie year and in one year since then Apps has finished in second place among National Hockey League scorers although he has never won the point scoring title.

Apps, as did the six previous winners, actually becomes the holder of the second Byng Trophy. The trophy originally was put up for competition in 1924-25 when Frank Nighbor, the famed Ottawa centre player, was named the winner.

In the years that followed Frank Boucher, now the coach of New York Rangers, enjoyed what amounted to a monopoly on possession of the trophy. Boucher, playing with the Rangers, won the trophy seven years in eight and was awarded permanent possession of the cup at the suggestion of Lady Byng, who awarded a new trophy. At the same time Boucher suggested that he no longer be considered eligible to win the second cup.

Seattle and Vancouver Arbiters to Work Cage Play-Offs Here

AFTER burning up the telephone and telegraph wires between Vancouver, Victoria and Alberni, Manager Dave Nicol and basketball officials finally, at an early hour this morning, agreed on referees for the British Columbia senior "A" men's play-offs opening Friday evening at the Sports Centre. The Dominoes' boss insisted on neutral officials, and partly made his point when the provincial heads decided on one Seattle whistle tooter, probably Tim McCullouch, and one from Vancouver. Earlier last night it looked as if the Dominoes-Tookes series would be called off, when the parties concerned were unable to reach an agreement on the officials. The clubs will play Friday and Saturday on the local floor, and return to the Mainland the following week. The "stop sale" order on the pasteboards will be lifted this morning, and with a brisk demand for tickets it looks as if the series is going to attract a good crowd.

NOT GUILTY IS JURY'S VERDICT

Peter Johnson Acquitted on Double Perjury Charge In Assize Court

Following a last-minute appeal by Defence Counsel Stuart Henderson an Assize Court jury yesterday afternoon, after only fifteen minutes deliberation, found Peter Johnson not guilty of a double charge of perjury.

Mr Henderson arose at the completion of an hour-long jury charge by Mr Justice A M Manson to request that His Lordship point out to the jury the dates in a retail sales book which he claimed would indicate that the sales receipt said by Crown witnesses to have been issued October 27 had, in fact, been issued at an earlier date.

Only two witnesses appeared for the defence, Johnson himself and a woman acquaintance who testified she did his English correspondence.

REFUTES EVIDENCE

Johnson's testimony was a categorical refutation of evidence given yesterday by witnesses for the Crown. He denied that he had requested from a local tobacconist a wholesale invoice covering the retail sales receipt, copy of which was submitted as evidence, or that he had such a receipt when he entered the store on October 27. Counsel for the defence submitted that Johnson's books were written partly in English and partly in Swedish.

Johnson was charged with having perjured himself in testifying at the trial of H R Smith and A Gray, October 27, that his books were written in Swedish and that he had not asked a local tobacconist for a wholesale invoice covering a previous retail transaction.

CLUMSY ATTEMPT

Closing the two-day trial, W C Moresby, K.C., Crown counsel, termed Johnson's testimony at the Fall Assizes "a clumsy attempt to interfere with the course of justice."

Stuart Henderson, in his defence plea to the jury, said Johnson, Swedish born, was an uneducated man who had been a farm worker before opening his own small business in Victoria and was not well qualified in business or language. He argued that only two words in the defendant's cash book had been proven to be exclusively English and that the testimony given by Johnson at the earlier trial had been inaccurate rather than intended to deceive.

Mr Justice Manson adjourned the Spring session of the Assize Court until Monday, March 16, at 11 a.m.

COASTAL ATTACK SEEN AS LIKELY

Japan May Launch Action In One Of Four Theatres of War

An attack on the coast of North America is one of four moves which Japan may now undertake, Prof F H Soward, of the University of British Columbia's department of history, said in delivering his annual lecture to the University Extension Association Monday night.

Alternatively, Professor Soward said Japan may try to knock out the only important base left in the Western Pacific, may feint towards Australia but swing to India "so that we might yet have Hirohito shaking hands with Hitler across India," or may attack Siberia, where the Russian base of Vladivostok is only 600 miles from Tokio. Attacking together, the speaker declared, Germany and Japan might be able to immobilize Russia.

"I am far more hopeful for victory than I was last year, in spite of the reverses, disasters, failures and disappointments we have had since," Professor Soward said.

"There is no question now that this war is a people's war and therefore those who would weaken the people's war by back biting and bickering at home are doing the worst thing possible for our war effort." Kenneth Drury, president of the association, was in the chair. Mildred Barker, secretary, read the financial statement for the year.

WANT MEN TO DIG TRENCHES

A.R.P. Volunteers to Carry Sand and Make Boxes Urgently Needed

Volunteers for special A.R.P. work are asked by Inspector Arthur H Bishop to register at the Civilian Protection office on the second floor of the City Hall.

He listed the following requirements: Men to help dig suitable trenches for temporary air raid shelters, men handy with tools to assist in constructing sand boxes, helpers to carry sand in buckets or sacks provided by householders from sand piles to homes not already provided with sand; householders with basements suitable for use as auxiliary air raid shelters and those able to donate sacks capable of holding sand.

"We are trying to make the A.R.P. organization efficient enough to meet the danger threatening Victoria," Inspector Bishop stated. "Those able to assist are asked to call in person or telephone the A.R.P. office at G 7111. They are not required to register as wardens and will not be called upon to do more than the services voluntarily offered."

WORKERS READY FOR AIR RAIDS

B.C. Electric Railway Co. Employees Have A.R.P. And First Aid Groups

B.C. Electric Railway Company employees have formed their own A.R.P. and first-aid organizations and now hope to be in a position to deal with whatever emergency may arise, particularly with regard to the protection of company property and maintenance of light, power, gas and transportation services and the welfare of members of the public who may happen to be upon company premises, it was learned yesterday.

Responding to a call by Vice-President A T Goward for volunteer workers, some two hundred employees volunteered their services. From this number A.R.P. workers and first aid squads have been selected and assigned to their stations. Provision has been made for day, night and relief shifts, with a senior warden in charge at each designated station.

EQUIPMENT PREPARED

Supplies of sand, lengths of hose and other fire-fighting equipment, also exceptionally complete first-aid equipment, have been installed at all necessary points. In addition the company has converted one of its light service trucks into a well-equipped ambulance, complete with a driver and an efficient first-aid crew. While this ambulance is primarily intended for the benefit of employees it also will be available in emergencies, for use in a more general way.

The Douglas Street and Langley Street offices of the company will have a staff of competent first-aid workers on hand and both these premises will be available as far as possible, for the use and benefit of the public as first-aid post.

The general organization of the B.C.E.R. employees' A.R.P. and first aid is under the direction of the company's general superintendent, G M Tripp, with C A Cornwall, assistant superintendent, acting as chief employee warden.

ON HIGHWAY BOARD

With Arthur Dixon, deputy minister of public works, as an ex-officio member, the new highway engineering board of the Province will consist of A L Carruthers, chairman and chief highway engineer; Harry Anderson, assistant highway engineer, and William Ramsay, district engineer at Kamloops, Hon R W Bruhn announced yesterday. All officials are in the Provincial service. The board will have advisory duties in connection with road construction.

City & District

City Temperatures—Maximum and minimum temperatures recorded yesterday at the Dominion Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill were 50 and 37 degrees, respectively. The maximum temperature observed on the grounds of the Strathcona Hotel was 53 degrees and the minimum 34 degrees.

Car Stolen—Wilson & Cabeldu [illegible] that a new automobile had been stolen from storage at 629 Broughton Street.

Eleven Fined—Nine motorists were each fined $2.50 yesterday in the city police court for various infractions of parking regulations. Two each paid $5 fines for failing to make a hand signal and neglecting to possess a driver's licence.

Crown to Appeal—Claude L Harrison, city prosecutor, intimated yesterday the Crown would appeal against a decision of Judge C J Lennox in which a police court conviction against Mrs Nellie Anderson for unlawfully keeping beer for sale was dismissed.

Received Plea—A plea of the City Council that enemy aliens be immediately removed from vulnerable areas was acknowledged by the Minister of National Defence in a letter received at the City Hall yesterday. The minister stated, "As the questions you have raised are matters for consideration by the Department of Justice your letter is being referred to the office of Hon Louis S St Laurent."

Seek Radio—The Saanich Council has been informed that a priority rating will be necessary before the municipality may secure four short-wave mobile radio telephone outfits, according to a letter filed at the City Hall yesterday. The communication suggested that the City Council loan Saanich two of the ten outfits ordered for the city police and fire departments and also assist the municipality to secure the four units required.

Pleads Guilty—Anton P Rishaug pleaded guilty yesterday in the city police court to a charge of stealing $15.55 in cash, a leather cigarette case and a bottle of perfume from Muriel Twitchell and Phyllis Goodrich at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday, and was remanded until this morning for sentence. Detectives Fearon Woodburn and P W Richards and Archie McKinnon described how the accused looted the girls' purses and was apprehended in a room at the Dominion Hotel. Rishaug pleaded that he had been drinking heavily and did not know what he was doing at the time of the theft.

GIVES ADVICE ON RENT PROBLEMS

Services of Administration Officers Obviate Necessity of Litigation In Most Cases

Landlords and tenants who avail themselves of the services of rental administration officers seldom find it necessary to resort to litigation to settle their differences, J D Gunn, who was recently appointed local representative of the rentals administration branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, said yesterday.

Mr Gunn, whose office is at 408 Union Building, explained that he is charged with enforcing the rental control regulations, and that his staff is prepared to investigate any complaint that they have been disobeyed and, if necessary, to prosecute offenders.

Mr Gunn passes upon applications for hearings before Judge H H Shandley. He and his staff investigate all such cases and report to Judge Shandley upon them.

In 90 per cent of the disputes, however, landlords and tenants find that once they consult the rentals administration representative and have the regulations explained to them, their differences can be settled out of court, Mr Gunn said.

BRISTOL, England (CP)—John Greening, seventy-nine, believes he is the only parent of two British Empire Medal winners: Chief Petty Officer R Greening, decorated for bravery at sea, and Mrs Dorothy Blatt, who helped dig out victims after an air raid.

Security Council Wants City To Provide Emergency Trenches for Children

Mayor Andrew McGavin will be [illegible] United Organizations Security Council of Victoria to order trenches dug in the city so that school children may resort to them in time of emergency.

The council, which now represents fourteen social, benevolent and fraternal organizations and an unstated number of women's clubs and military service auxiliaries, decided at a meeting Monday night, to have a temporary executive committee interview Mayor McGavin and press this demand because the city has provided no air raid shelters for its citizens or school children.

CONSIDER MANY PROBLEMS

Problems raised by the presence here of enemy aliens and projects such as the forming and equipping of a home guard have already or will later be considered by the organization. In addition, it proposes to press for action in the fields of civilian protection, fire fighting, forest protection, wartime housing and community feeding in time of emergency.

The council will launch a drive for membership, and co-operate in future with similar bodies which have been formed in British Columbia. It struck the following committees last night: Membership, Mrs S F MacDonnell, Mrs S W Raven, J G Chandler, J Wilby and E H Harris; publicity, A H Tyrrell, J W Page and W B C[illegible]d.

A suggestion offered was that the confiscated Japanese fishing fleet be put at the disposal of some organization for the evacuation of school children to the Mainland should circumstances require it. One delegate said that the roads and railways could not be used for evacuation in time of emergency because military movements would tax them to capacity.

Another declared: "The indifference of Victoria citizens is such that they deserve to be bombed." The council will meet again Monday next to elect permanent officers.

TRIAL BLACKOUT HELD BY STORE

Work of Hudson's Bay Co. Employees Draws Praise From A.R.P. Head

In the first trial incendiary blackout ever held by the store employees of the Hudson's Bay Company yesterday quenched a theoretical fire which followed a bomb hit upon the roof, treated three casualties and guided to the basement, part of which is fitted up as a first aid room, all those workers not engaged upon A.R.P. duties.

All lights were extinguished shortly after the air raid alarm sounded, and helmeted booted fire-fighting squads raced to the roof when "spotters" sent down word that the bomb hit had started a bad fire. Wardens patrolled all entrances to the store, employees guided members of the staff to the basement, young ladies of the first aid squads treated casualties on the spot before taking them to the basement on stretchers, and a motorcyclist relayed messages to A.R.P. headquarters after those in charge of the blackout were notified that the store's telephone switchboard had been put out of commission.

WORK WELL DONE

The "all clear" sounded seventeen and a half minutes after the raid warning was received and Inspector A H Bishop, civilian protection officer, described the demonstration as "a wonderful job." The first aid work, he said, was particularly well done and the store well equipped for emergencies.

"If every other building were as well equipped, we would have no trouble," Inspector Bishop said. He will address employees later upon home protection measures, and Corporal D W Taylor and Constable Deane of the Provincial Police will cover other phases of the work.

A J Watson, store manager, and representative of the F W Woolworth Company and St John Ambulance Association observed the demonstration.

Falls Victim to War Effort

ANOTHER familiar sight on Broadway to go on account of war measures! The Wrigley Spearmint sign on Times Square, New York City, the largest of its kind in the world, is being dismantled. For the past six years this spectacular sign has thrilled the Broadway crowds. To see the Great White Way and the Wrigley sign in particular, because it was the largest, was one thing that [illegible] the visitors to New York from all over the world. The William Wrigley Jr. Company decided to discontinue this beautiful sign strictly as an economic measure. The sign was seventy-five feet high and 192 feet long. REACH FINAL OF TOURNEY

Dark Horses Continue to Dominate Golf Event in Miami Course

MIAMI, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Two long-shot combinations, neither rated better than 50 to 1, reached the finals of the Miami Biltmore's international four ball golf tournament today with a pair of fortunate, almost unbelievable victories.

Jack Grout, tall, black-haired Pittston, Pa., professional, supplied the big punch for 1,500 spectators when he sank a sixty-foot chip shot on the thirty-sixth hole to give his team a one-up decision.

Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio, managed a hot-putting trick earlier in the afternoon and he and his partner, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., blasted out the 1941 winners, Ben Hogan and Gene Sarazen, 5 and 4.

With only four holes to go Grout and Ben Loving, the Biltmore pro, were staring defeat in the face. They were two down after Jimmy Hines of New York, and Willie Goggin of San Francisco had fired an amazing 29, six under par, on the first nine of the afternoon round.

Then Grout took command to save the day. He knocked in a four foot putt on the 553-yard thirty-third for the birdie four that won the hole when Goggin's putt slid past.

Grout smacked his second shot on the 400-yard thirty-fourth seven feet from the pin. The serious thirty-one-year-old player made a perfect putt.

They halved the 396-yard thirty-fifth in par fours and the stage was set for Grout's coup de grace. He was short of the green with his second on the 479-yard thirty-sixth while the others all were on [illegible].

SINKS LONG PUTT

Grout was away and he stroked his chip first. The ball followed the contour of the green, curved and dropped—while a great cheer went up.

W[illegible] [illegible] inches of the pin. There was a gasp when for a moment it appeared he had duplicated Grout's feat.

Grout and Loving did the morning eighteen in 30-35—65 to go to lunch two up. They turned in a best ball 34-31—65 this afternoon. Hines and Goggin, who carded seven consecutive 3's on the first nine this afternoon, had scores of 35-32—67 and 29-35—64.

Perfect teamwork counted again for Keiser and Harper as they knocked the last remaining "name" team out of the tournament.

Each contributed heavily to the 32-31—63 that gave them a one hole margin on the morning eighteen when Keiser found the [illegible].

He sank putts of twelve, fifteen and twenty feet on the twentieth, twenty-first and twenty-second to give his team an insurmountable margin.

Reverted Lands Have Real Value

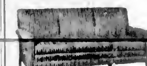

Properties which have reverted to cities through tax sales are valuable in that they can be exchanged for parcels desired by corporations, speakers addressing the Victoria Town Planning Association's meeting said Monday night.

To rank as assets such reverted land must be reserved or used for purposes of community benefit, the meeting was told. They could become liabilities if the city to which they had reverted disposed of them at prices so low that the values of adjoining parcels were destroyed.

F A Gale said that London was considering the purchase of bombed property as a move towards slum clearance. Mrs. Clare McAllister will direct the association's next meeting, March 23.

USED HOUSES

MANY OF THESE HOUSES WERE BUILT FOR AN OWNER not for speculation and by workmen who were not rushed and had genuine pride in their work. The TAXES on them are much lower than on new houses with the same accommodation. AT THE PRESENT TIME it is possible to secure new kitchen sinks, modern bath tubs and hardwood for the flooring. SIX MONTHS from now the story is likely to be different. After modernization the TOTAL COST will be much lower than that of a new house. Various materials for new construction are getting scarce and owners of new houses are unwilling to part with them, hence those wishing to purchase a home would be wise to consider one of the older houses. LET US KNOW YOUR REQUIREMENTS—we may be able to match them up with something on our books.

CALCULATIONS

A young R.A.F. officer stationed somewhere in Egypt was flying near the Great Pyramid, carrying out exercises in navigation and discovering his geographical position with a sextant.

After a series of involved and confused calculations, he turned suddenly to his pilot and said, "Take your hat off."

"Why?" asked the pilot.

"Because, according to my calculations, we are now inside St. Paul's Cathedral."

NANAIMO IN HOCKEY WIN

Clippers Defeat Vernon in First of British Columbia Ice Finals

NANAIMO, March 10 (CP)—Nanaimo Clippers took an edge in the British Columbia intermediate hockey finals when they set back Vernon Hydrophones, 5-2, in the opening game in the best-of-three series here tonight.

Hydrophones put up a game battle, but were outclassed by the more experienced and heavier Nanaimo club.

Both teams tallied in the opening frame, Vernon registering first at 11.06, when Mike (Zoom) Zelma broke through the Clippers' defence to beat Goalie Langill on a close-in shot. Toad Klein equalized for Clippers less than a minute later when he drilled a hard shot that Saunders partially blocked with his glove, but the puck dropped back of the line.

Clippers ran in three counters in the second frame to put the game away, Bill Sutherland netting two of the goals unassisted, with Doug Martinson and Red Carr combining for the other counter.

Vernon scored its second goal midway through the last frame when Gourlie, ex-Vancouver Lion, drove in Goalie Langill, who blocked the first shot, but Gourlie rounded the net to secure possession of the rubber and scored neatly from the corner.

Clippers retaliated a few minutes later when Dave MacKay and Carr combined for the fifth Nanaimo goal.

Next game in the series will be played at Nanaimo on Thursday night. Should Vernon knot the series with a win, third game would be played Saturday.

Uses Strange Logic

By IRA WOLFERT

North American Newspaper Alliance

Slow and sleepy, the big Brown Bomber starts work at 6 o'clock. Three miles out, three miles back. A steady [illegible] out, dancing along and bounding, working his arms and shoulders, breathing deep, sucking the stinging morning air into his sleep-warm body, throwing punches at the darkness to drive the sluggishness out of himself. Then short sprints on the way back, 100-yard hurtles.

It is still dark at 6 o'clock, Eastern War Time, and the car following Joe Louis the three miles out and the three miles back has its headlights on. The car is a massive, expensive convertible coupe, a $3,000 barrel of power and it sits low and wide on the road, its bulging, swooped-out sides making it look like a bag full of money. This is Joe's own car, one of his two. The other, bigger car is for his wife, Marva.

The men in Joe's car don't talk much on the way out. Talk is hard to come by at 6 o'clock of a black morning when the mind is all cranky with sleep. They lean forward and watch in silence the spectacle—the really fantastic spectacle—of the big brown man gagging himself along through the dark, cold, sleeping countryside, his powerful figure hulking large in the headlights.

"All them birds and beeses they got in the country here," Manny Seamon, the trainer, said, "must look up from their sleep and think he's crazy and we're crazy."

"The world's making us do this," somebody else said. "You can read how it says in the papers every day the whole world's crazy."

"Birds and bees is in the Summer," Fred Guinyard said. He's Joe's man-of-all-work, including driving. "And, anyway, they got no brains to think, only reflexes, I read."

But mostly the only sounds were Joe's shoes crunching the rutted road and the big rich car creaking softly and rumbling softly and one man in the car breathing, an old man whose breath pumps and wheezes in and out of his chest as if from a great, billowing bellows.

On the way back, when Joe starts to sprint, the men in the car loosen up. This is something to see. Joe weighs 220 pounds now, about fifteen pounds over what he'll be March 27 when he goes against Abe Simon for the army fund. The excess is distributed evenly over his large, supple frame, and when he throws his body down the road the beef of his muscles works in the soft flesh like pistons in grease, ramming, pounding and kneading effortlessly. He runs like a trained sprinter, kicking high, wasting no time bringing his legs back, landing hard and on the balls of his feet to give himself bounce and spring, running along high and as if on ball bearings.

"That's some runner going there," somebody said.

"That's some anything you want to mention," corrected Seamon.

Nobody has ever clocked Joe to see how fast he could go a hundred yards. "I win bets on him all the time, on his running," Guinyard said. "Every training camp we is, little fellows come along, welterweights and lightweights, fancy dan boys, and think they can run faster than Joe because what have they got if they ain't got speed. They're sure they can go ten yards while Joe is lifting up one of those big feet of his and I win money off them all the time, in every camp. Joe's never lost a race yet."

When Joe runs the hundred, you can almost hear the wind of his going, rapping and rustling over the noise of the car and the old man's breathing. We thought of how Joe's 220 pounds would go through a line like a high velocity shell and make a touchdown on every play.

"That sure would be some football player out there," we said.

"Anything, anything, some anything," Seamon corrected again. "Even on the pinball machine. That takes something, a skill or a touch or some little something athletic and even on that Joe is the best pinball player I ever see."

"It's not going to be much of a fight against Simon," we said.

Nobody said anything. They didn't want to knock down a fight that is intended to bring money in for the army. But there is going to be plenty of money stacked up around the ring anyway. Everybody wants to see Joe in action and would be foolish not to, because that is the kind of a man who is given only once to every generation.

FOUR BOXLA CLUBS READY

Bays, McLean's, Jokers and Douglas Tire Enter Senior Loop—Officers Elected

Four and possibly five clubs will play in the senior circuit of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association during the coming season, it was disclosed at the annual meeting last night in The Colonist board room.

Definite starters include James Bay, last season's provincial intermediate champions, Jokers, McLean's Bakery, 1941 British Columbia titleholders, and a new entry to be known as Douglas Tire. There is also a possibility of a United Services club filing an entry.

More than 25,000 people passed through the pay wicket at the Sports Centre during the 1941 season with the gate receipts holding their own with the previous season. Forty-five matches, excluding exhibition games were played.

Four members of the retiring executive were returned without opposition, while the other office, that of secretary, was filled by Frank M. Shandley, a former treasurer of the association.

Sid Thomas, who was president during 1941, will again guide the destinies of the local organization. His working mates will include Eddie Popham, first vice-president; Harry Easler, second vice-president; Roddy McInnes, treasurer, all re-elected, and Frank M. Shandley, secretary.

The president was named as the delegate to the provincial parley at Vancouver in the near future. R. H. "Bob" McInnes was appointed a trustee on the promotional committee, replacing the late Everett Taylor.

Prospects for the coming season look exceptionally bright, with indications of a good senior circuit. Efforts will be made to tie up the local league with the recently-organized Commercial League on the Mainland, with the Victoria clubs playing home and away fixtures. Should this suggestion fall by the wayside, each of the local squads will, if possible, play one of the Vancouver teams at the Sports Centre here.

No definite date was set for the filing of entries, the delegates deciding to await the outcome of the annual British Columbia Box Lacrosse Association parley at Vancouver. On his return from the Mainland the president will call a meeting of the local association.

FRITZIE ZIVIC WINS

PITTSBURGH, March 10 (AP)—Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh's ex-welterweight champion, gave Izzy Jannazzo, New York, a bad beating last night and was awarded a technical knockout when Jannazzo was unable to answer the bell for the fifth round of a ten-round fight. Zivic weighed 151, Jannazzo 148.

There were no knockdowns, but at the end of the fourth round, Jannazzo's right eye was closed and he made his way to his corner on rubbery legs. He obviously was too weary to continue.
